Beat Aged Springfield Women, Get $2,500 Loot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Two masked robbers entered a Springfield apartment Sunday night and pistol-whipped the two elderly lady occupants before escaping with $2,500 in jewelry, police said.

FIND PARENTS OF SIX DEAD

WASHINGTON, Ill. (AP)—The parents of six children were found dead in their home today, apparently the victims of homicide and suicide.

Police said Mrs. George Taylor suffered a fatal gunshot wound in her side and her husband was wounded in the head. They said they believe he shot her, then turned the weapon on himself.

STEAL POOR'S FOOD

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Burglars broke into Salvation Army headquarters over the weekend and stole 22 bags of food intended for the poor. Capt. Ross Zargus of the Salvation Army said the bags were worth $15 each.

Walkie-Talkies Creating Airwaves Traffic Jam

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Transistorized walkie-talkies — the Christmas gift for the kid who has everything — are creating a traffic jam on the airwaves.

The Federal Communications Commission doesn't like some of the juvenile patter its monitors are picking up. The FBI is also listening with interest.

Some children with walkie-talkies and a high-powered vocabulary are butting into the citizens radio band network with purple anecdotes and suggestions. The chatter is burning the ears of licensed radio operators tuned in on the same frequency.

Most of the walkie-talkie conversations are perfectly legitimate messages between pals with a new toy. As long as the talk is clean and no conscious attempt is made to interfere with regular traffic, the FCC has no objections.

"Walkie-talkie chatter is expected every Christmas," said Homer Thompson, chief engineer at the FCC's central monitoring station in Broward County.

He explained that the battery-powered sets are preregulated by the manufacturers to operate on one-tenth watt power over class D citizens band channels. Their range over land is one to three miles.

"Actually, the kids who are abusing the use of the airwaves don't come under our jurisdiction since they are not licensed operators," Thompson said.

"But we do cooperate with the FBI when federal statutes involving profane and indecent language is involved."

Of more serious concern are the false emergency messages being heard on some sets. One boy on Christmas Day had several radio operators worried when he broadcast an SOS — pleading that he was in a sinking boat. His alarm turned out to be false.

The citizens band is designed for both business and personal use — for delivery trucks and sportsmen, for example. It is also the frequency for other radio use, such as signals from electronic heating machines and hospital heat-treatment equipment.

First Major Overseas Trip As VP

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Hubert H. Humphrey wings toward the Far East today on his first major overseas trip as vice president.

The week-long Asian journey to the Philippines, Japan, South Korea and Nationalist China may be largely ceremonial. But the war in Viet Nam, Humphrey says, will be a prime topic in his private talks with leaders of the four friendly governments.

The foreign travel may also help strengthen Humphrey's image at home, as it did for Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Although Johnson traveled to 28 countries when he was vice president, Humphrey's most talked-about trip was the one he didn't make — when Johnson sent Chief Justice Earl Warren instead of the vice president to represent the United States at Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Generally, Humphrey has been kept on a short tether, laboring as liaison between the White House and Congress and giving speeches within the United States.

Coincidentally or otherwise, the White House announced the plans for Humphrey's Asian trip after a public opinion poll whose findings apparently surprised Humphrey's staff. Johnson said he had selected Humphrey as his No. 2 man because he was equipped to be a good president. But the recent poll showed that the majority of people sampled

Mystery Deepens On Missing Rockford Girl

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—The whereabouts of brown-haired, blue-eyed Susan Brady, 11, who disappeared Dec. 20, were a deeper mystery, if anything, today.

The only tangible clue, her gray scarf found by a mailman several blocks from home, turned out to have no bearing on her disappearance.

"I remember now that she lost that scarf two weeks ago," Mrs. Norma Brady, mother of the girl, told police.

Chief Delbert Peterson of the Rockford police, said that a small quantity of blood found on the snow in rural outskirts of Rockford Friday was being analyzed by laboratory experts.

"We don't know whether it's animal or human blood yet," Peterson said. He said that with rabbit season for hunters in progress, the find could mean nothing.

More than 1,000 searchers, bloodhounds and airplane spotters failed during several days of search to find any traces of the youngster.

Susan's father, James Brady, 38, voiced the theory of most investigators: "I think she was taken for a ride in an automobile." He added, "I'm hoping that she will be released and returned to us unharmed."

Police of five states were asked to check on all possibilities that the girl and a kidnaper or kidnappers might have been seen.

HELEN HAYES GIVES COAT FOR KOREANS

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Helen Hayes' $2,000 nutria coat is bringing Christmas cheer to needy South Korean students.

The American actress took the coat off before boarding a plane Saturday at Seoul International Airport. She handed it to a U.S. Embassy employee and asked that proceeds from its sale be used for the Korean students.

Miss Hayes was leaving after a 23-day tour to entertain American servicemen.

U.S. Jets Keep Out Of N. Viet

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—For the third straight day, the United States kept its planes out of North Viet Nam's skies today, but U.S. Marines killed 63 Viet Cong in ground skirmishes after a short, interrupted Christmas truce.

The Marines reported strikes against the Communists during patrols around the big U.S. air base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans reported taking light casualties.

A squad of Leathernecks pounced on about 40 Viet Cong, killing 15 at a hamlet called Quang Ha No. 1.

Two hours later a Marine platoon near Quang Ha No. 2, about two miles southward, was attacked by 75 Viet Cong armed with automatic weapons.

The Americans called in artillery support, tanks and armed helicopters. When the brief encounter was over they counted the bodies of 41 Communists.

Everard Smith Senate Fiscal Expert Retires

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON — (AP)—A Senate fiscal expert who has handled federal government appropriations totaling more than $2 trillion retires Thursday after 53 years of service at the Capitol.

Everard H. Smith, 75, is stepping down as chief clerk of the Senate Appropriations Committee, from what he calls "the most wonderful job in the world."

"You couldn't find a university anywhere where you could hear as many top people on as many different subjects as come before our committee every year," he said.

Smith went to work for the Senate committee April 1, 1913, at the outset of the Woodrow Wilson administration.

That first year the congressional appropriations to run the government totaled $1,098,000,000. In the 1965 session which ended in October the total was $119.3 billion, second highest in history. Only 1942, a World War II year, had a higher figure — $147 billion.

Over the 53 years of Smith's work with the committee, the appropriations totaled $2,191,000,000,000.

In his early years on the group, Smith was one of the three full time committee employees and he worked on all of the bills.

Now, with the federal government far greater in size and much more complex, the committee has 35 staff members including one or more experts for each of the separate departmental bills.

But Smith, as chief clerk since 1938, has kept his finger on all of the measures.

LBJ Still Seeking Peace In Viet Nam

By FRANK CORMIER
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson reportedly still retained a glimmer of hope today that the fighting in Viet Nam will not return to pre-Christmas ferocity.

The fact that the United States had not resumed bombings of North Viet Nam, even two days after the end of the cease-fire, was seen as evidence that Johnson still was seeking a peaceful settlement.

When the United States and South Viet Nam were considering last week a 30-hour Christmas cease-fire, so long as their troops were not fired upon, Johnson kept aloof from the eventual announcement and, publicly, the decision-making.

"That's a matter to be decided in Saigon," said the Texas White House.

Johnson made no public comment on the cease-fire, even though he normally is quick to identify himself with good news.

In many quarters, his silence was interpreted as indicating reluctance to associate himself with a move that might go awry. And some observers were convinced after the cease-fire failed to hold, that this was his reasoning.

However, one source close to the President cast Johnson's aloofness in a different light by saying: "He is silent because he is listening."

In short, according to this source, Johnson said nothing because he was most interested in Hanoi's reaction. Reportedly, he did not want to cloud the atmosphere.

It was not happenstance either, it was said, that the State Department announced officially that American troops had been ordered not to fire except in self-defense, even after the end of the 30-hour cease-fire, and that the subsequent fighting was described as "unfortunate."

The President and the First Lady attended Sunday service at the First Baptist church in Johnson City. He shook hands with everyone in sight — even one of his Secret Service bodyguards — and he signed autographs readily.

Afterwards, Johnson visited his boyhood home and, by coincidence, gave his Secret Service bodyguard a scare.

Just as Johnson drove to the old homestead, an 18-year-old deer hunter emerged from his grandfather's home across the street carrying a rifle with telescopic sight. At that instant, a 12-year-old girl in a yard nearby set off a loud firecracker.

Secret Service agent Cliff Hilling remembered for climbing aboard the limousine of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas at the time of the assassination — jumped from a security car and advanced on the rifle-holder with arms outstretched.

The episode soon was forgotten when the train of coincidences were unraveled. After Johnson left the scene, the youth drove away for some hunting — just as he had intended.

NOTED JURIST DIES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Judge Gerald F. Flood of the Pennsylvania Superior Court died Sunday at 67. His law career as a lawyer, Professor, lecturer and jurist covered more than 40 years.

707 Killed On Highways

27 Perish In Illinois Accidents

By The Associated Press
The three-day Christmas holiday is over, and 27 persons are dead from traffic accidents on Illinois highways.

The figure compares with the 28 killed last Christmas and the 56 fatalities during the four-day Christmas holiday in 1956.

Most of those killed died in single-fatality accidents.

However, three members of an Xenia family were killed Friday near Xenia. They were Charles Benke, 65; his wife, Tracy, 60; and their daughter, Rita, 17.

A double-fatality smash-up the same day killed Daniel De-clue Jr., 21, and Miss Frances Mattingly, 18, both of Herrin, Ill. The accident was in Herrin.

A foreign exchange student, Medi Sahedi, 23, who resided in Houston, Tex., was killed Friday.

Charge 2 GIs Aided Enemy While Captives

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The U.S. Army said today it has charged two GIs with aiding the enemy during two years of Viet Cong imprisonment and is investigating to determine whether they will be put on trial.

The two soldiers are Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W.Va., and Spec. 4 Claude McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., who were released by the Viet Cong last month. They will remain on Okinawa until a final decision on their cases, the spokesman said.

After an extensive investigation, he said, they were charged with preparing, furnishing and delivering to the Viet Cong certain documents, statements and writings inimical to the interest of the United States.

The spokesman said the two Special Forces men have been provided defense attorneys. In accordance with U.S. military procedure, their cases now are being studied to determine if they will face a trial by court-martial.

Smith, 27, and McClure, 25, were captured in November 1963 when guerrillas overran the Hiep Hoa camp northeast of Saigon.

They were released last Nov. 27 at the Cambodian border during a period of demonstrations in the United States against the Viet Nam war.

Clash Over Value Or Danger Of Shelters

By RALPH DIGHTON

AP Science Writer
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Two prominent scientists clashed today over the value or danger — of proposals to spend billions on antimissile systems and fallout shelters.

"Reliance upon a defense system of such extraordinary complexity may bring more risk than safety," said Dr. Barry Commoner, head of the Department of Botany at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Edward Teller, University of California physicist and one of the inventors of the atomic bomb, countered: "A strong civil defense is our best hope of preventing nuclear attack."

The two were scheduled speakers in a symposium on civil defense at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science — the largest scientific convention of the year, attended by more than 6,000.

The difference of opinion came at a briefing prior to the symposium.

Commoner, an authority on the effects of radiation on man's environment, accused Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara of giving a "woefully inadequate" picture of the immediate and eventual damage from nuclear war.

He predicted "epidemics of

Cuban Officers Defect

Say Ships Carry Arms To N. Viet

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Four Cuban officers walked off a Cuban freighter today and asked and were granted U.S. political asylum.

They said all Cuban ships were instructed to carry military equipment to Communist North Viet Nam and they opposed this policy of aiding "Communist aggression."

A statement by Capt. Francisco Cobas Oses, 48, and three officers of the Aracelio Iglesias, 7,000-ton freighter, said "we don't want to risk our lives by helping the shipment of military equipment."

A Cuban Embassy spokesman in Tokyo called the four traitors. He denied Cuban ships were carrying cargo to North Viet Nam. He said the ships call at North Vietnamese ports "to pick up things we buy there — general merchandise."

The four were reported to have told Osaka officials they were ordered to pick up weapons in Shanghai and take them to North Viet Nam.

A spokesman for the U.S. consulate-general said the Cubans declared: "We cannot stand life in Cuba any longer."

Analyze Liquor In Mysterious Skid Row Deaths

CHICAGO (AP)—Liquor bottles, found near the bodies of five men who were discovered dead in a skid row hotel Christmas night are being analyzed in an effort to learn how the men died.

Preliminary tests Sunday failed to reveal the cause of death said Dr. James W. Henry, coroner's pathologist.

The bodies were found in the Grange Hotel on West Madison Street.

Two of the men, identified as Nicholas Davis, 49, and Stanley Gonzales, 58, collapsed while watching television in the hotel's lobby. Walter Kramer, 65, was found in a washroom.

The deaths were reported to police who searched the hotel and found James Dorian, 55, and Nelson Stanton, 60, dead in their rooms.

Deaths Exceed Estimate

By The Associated Press
The nation's three-day Christmas traffic death toll broke all records for holiday fatalities on the highways.

The death toll reached 707 today as late reports were verified. The previous record traffic toll was 706 for a four-day Christmas weekend in 1956.

Before the holiday, the National Safety Council had estimated deaths would run between 560 and 660.

The toll included records in a number of individual states. In Ohio, the state safety director, Warren C. Nelson, said the 49 deaths made the highest toll for any weekend in 1965 and perhaps the highest since records have been kept. Louisiana's superintendent of public safety, Thomas Burbanks, said that state's 32 was the worst toll since state police began keeping records 25 years ago.

Rain, sleet, snow and freezing temperatures over much of the nation added to the expected hazards of long-distance travel, minimum daylight and roads jammed with cars.

The Safety Council said 80 million vehicles were on the road during the 78-hour period, which started at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday night.

Several accidents accounted for dozens of deaths.

Shortly after the start of the holiday period, a bus traveling on icy pavement in Oregon skidded out of control, crashed and turned over. The accident Thursday took 13 lives.

The next day, five persons died when a car skidded out of control on an ice-coated bridge in eastern Oklahoma. Five persons died Sunday on a snowy road near Buffalo, Minn. Seven persons were killed in a collision west of Sublette, Kan., Sunday.

The total dead far exceeded the 578 killed over the 1964 Christmas weekend and the 423 fatalities during a recent non-holiday weekend. That weekend, from 6 p.m. Thursday Dec. 9 to midnight Sunday Dec. 12, was surveyed by the Associated Press to establish a comparison.

Editorial Comment

To All Humanity

Now and then one encounters among Protestants the feeling that too much attention has been paid to the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Councils which have just been concluded after three years of intermittent sessions in Rome. Some regard as excessive the widespread interest in the Catholic hierarchy's deliberations and statements, arguing that these are after all of importance primarily to Catholics.

This may be true. But it also is true that the Council declarations, made after penetrating study and discussion of the place of religion in the modern world, have broad significance not only for all Christians but for all men of good will no matter what their faith may be. Whether or not one agrees with the conclusions of the assembled church leaders on this or that point, it is fruitful to reflect on their findings as a part of one's continuing search for truth and relevance.

A Born Winner

There is a young lady in Spring Lake, N.J., who must live right.

In the last year, 17-year-old Mary Anne Murray has won three brand new automobiles on raffle tickets.

In previous raffles, Mary Anne had won a $200 hand organ and a $100 gift certificate.

Mathematicians figure the odds on a grand slam like this are about one in 150 million. And most of us have to believe they are greater than that.

Most of us have, in fact, never won anything.

The case of one man comes to mind. This optimist took chances on everything and drew nothing but blanks.

Eventually, he attended a Christ-

The preface to the new pastoral constitution on "The Church in the Modern World" begins with these words: "The joys and the hopes, the griefs and the anxieties of the men of this age, especially those who are poor or in any way afflicted — these are the joys and hopes, the griefs and anxieties of the followers of Christ. Indeed, nothing genuinely human fails to raise an echo in their hearts. For theirs is a community composed of men." And later on in the preface the Council addresses itself "not only to the sons of the church and to all who invoke the name of Christ, but to the whole of humanity."

This is more than, as it might be narrowly interpreted, an appeal for acceptance of Roman Catholicism as the one true faith. Quite aside from that, the words quoted above strike a deep response because they remind us that all men are caught up together in the common human condition, that we are all brothers.

No, no, no, no. He won 25 pounds of dog biscuits.

As you have surmised, he had no dog.

"My family," he recalls glumly, "got so sick of dog biscuits they can't eat 'em to this day. And that was years ago."

Washington Kremlin Shake-up Makes Brezhnev the Soviet Boss

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Kremlin reshuffle puts Leonid Brezhnev more firmly in the saddle and weakens his rivals. It also weakens the position of some Soviet leaders who have favored butler over guns. The following points are made by piecing together the private views of some top Kremlinologists.

1. Brezhnev has kicked his chief rival upstairs. (Nikolai V. Podgorny was "promoted" to the presidency of the Soviet Union, a post that is largely ceremonial and out of the mainstream of politics and party work. Podgorny lost his supervisory power over the party apparatus.)

2. Brezhnev stripped another key rival of his independent powers over the party workers and brought him closely under Brezhnev's own close supervision.

(Alexander N. Shelepin, 47, who has been coming up fast, was removed as deputy premier and as head of the powerful Committee for Party and State Control. His work in the party secretariat will keep him where Brezhnev can oversee and control his every move.)

3. Brezhnev now has his own man in as operating or executive head of the party apparatus — I. V. Kapitonov.

4. Brezhnev also now has his own man — V. V. Shcherbitsky — reinstated as party chief in the Ukraine and as a candidate member of the ruling Presidium. This Ukraine post has been a powerful stepping-stone. It was the route to power taken by Khrushchev, Brezhnev and Podgorny.

5. Brezhnev patently has personally shunted Premier Alexei N. Kosygin aside in the Kremlin power ladder. Brezhnev announced the promotions and demotions. Kosygin was silent. By this predominance, Brezhnev indicated he has checked (at least temporarily) the growing power of the technicians who have made their way up the government ladder by administrative ability.

The government technical-administrators have been making a silent bid for more influence, as have government and industrial technicians and managers all down the line. (Individual factory and economy managers have been especially insistent on wider authority.)

Brezhnev apparently has now sharply reasserted the dominance of the party.

It is not yet clear what these power shifts will mean to the United States. The men rising in power are doctrinaire party men. They are weak in their knowledge of foreign affairs and therefore somewhat unpredictable.

Their decisions are expected to be filled with compromises. But it's clear that Brezhnev is not going to downgrade the Russian military. He and his aides apparently have decided there is no hope of reconciliation with Red China so long as Mao Tse-tung heads the Peking government. There are signs Brezhnev's men will continue to try to make a comeback in Asia — through North Viet Nam, Indonesia and India — which will keep U.S.-Soviet relations on edge.

The World Today

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite all the sweet talk at the AFL-CIO convention, the honeymoon between President Johnson and organized labor appears to be over.

There's no real threat of divorce, but there is a distinct chance of separate maintenance if the Democrats don't make good in January on their chief premarital pledge to the labor unions.

The promise was to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits the states to outlaw union shop contracts requiring all employees to join a union.

Johnson couldn't — or didn't — make Congress deliver the pledge this year to the politically powerful labor movement with its millions of votes. AFL-CIO President George Meany, who once could dictate high Labor Department appointments, now can't even get an audience with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

With just two weeks left until Congress convenes, all Meany wants to know is when Mansfield plans to bring up 14B in the Senate and how hard he would fight to break another Republican filibuster like the one that blocked the repeal bill this year. Is Mansfield avoiding Meany, perhaps with the tacit agreement of Johnson, who at best has been lukewarm in his support of the repeal bill?

"Draw your own conclusions," grumbles the unhappy Meany, who months ago warned that the federation may have to take a hard new look at its relationships with both major political parties.

Most of the recent AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco was devoted to voicing strong support for Johnson's Viet Nam policies, "but we would have done that no matter what administration was in office — even Eisenhower," said a federation spokesman.

Labor, pledging all-out 1966 political support to protect some freshmen liberal House Democrats who voted to repeal 14B before the Senate filibuster blocked its final passage, really has no choice now but to string along with the administration.

But should Johnson, Mansfield and other Democrats fail to deliver on 14B early next year, organized labor might well shut its pocketbook in the 1968 presidential election year.

"We put a lot of muscle, manpower and money in Johnson's 1964 victory and Johnson knows it well," said the federation spokesman in confidently predicting repeal of 14B early next year.

But many labor leaders believe less in the chances of repeal than they do in Santa Claus.

But where else, in the present political scheme of things, can the labor movement go?

Federation spokesmen bristle at this question.

"We're not captives" of the Democrats, one said.

Another alternative, they hint, is formation of a labor party, like Britain's — but, they concede privately that is not very practical.

What, then, can the labor chiefs do — if finally disenchanted with Johnson and the Democratic party — in future elections?

Said one high spokesman for the federation: "We can stay home" on Election Day.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Care Needed in Choice
Of Pole Vault Equipment

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pole vaulting has become a spectacular and popular sport with the invention of the glass fiber pole. This type of pole is full of spring and will lift your son to heights never attained with the old wooden poles. But every new advantage is attended by its own special disadvantages.

In this case the disadvantage is associated with misuse. Glass fiber poles come in assorted weights. Each weight is designed to correspond to the weight of the user.

When the proper weight is used the pole is virtually unbreakable and therefore perfectly safe. But enthusiastic youngsters too often are tempted to use a lighter pole than the one specified. It is true that if your son is lucky such a pole may lift him higher than the heavier pole he should be using, but this is too much like playing Russian roulette. If he is not so lucky, and the pole snaps, he may be impaled on one of the fragments.

Parents and coaches must make sure that their high-flying charges understand this and never use too light a pole.

Q—My daughter, 2, has been walking almost a year. She is terribly pigeon-toed. Would it help if she wore her shoes on the opposite feet?

A—Pigeon-toe is usually associated with a high-arched foot. Although a mild degree of pigeon-toe may be advantageous, a severe degree is a handicap and should be treated. Don't reverse her shoes. Instead have a leather wedge inserted in the outer (lateral) aspect of her shoes. This should be at least 1/4-inch thick at the outer edge. When this treatment is started early the results are usually good.

Q—Would giving a 1-year-old baby small amounts of wine or beer cause brain damage?

A—Although giving small amounts of alcohol to toddlers is a common practice in some European countries, it is discouraged by American doctors. Alcohol is an acquired taste and there is no hurry about establishing a liking for it. If a child is thirsty he should drink milk, orange juice or water. Anything that replaces the first two of these robs the child of much needed nourishment.

Whatever the disadvantages, however, brain damage would not be one of them unless large amounts were given daily over a long time.

Q—My daughter, 6, has mononucleosis. Could this lead to leukemia? Is there a cure for mononucleosis?

A—Infectious mononucleosis is not related to leukemia. Your doctor may help clear it up without treatment after two or three months. Cortisone or a related drug may shorten this period.

We, the Women

Beauty Shops Pamper Tired Businessmen

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It was a newspaper account of a man's first visit to a men's hair salon—so naturally I read it.

And do you know what? It sounded to me as though that reporter enjoyed every minute of his new experience.

The comfort and luxury of the surroundings, the pleasant relaxation of lying back for a shampoo, the flattery of getting his hair "styled"—instead of just cut the same as usual, the restfulness of reading under the hair dryer, and the final cloud of hair spray to keep the "styled" locks in place.

Come to think of it, why shouldn't men enjoy pampering themselves and having their egos built up in a beauty salon just as much as women do?

A poor, harried housewife can walk into a beauty salon feeling tired and bedraggled and after a couple of hours of being petted and pampered, a couple of hours of having someone act as though the becomingness of her hairdo is of the utmost importance, she walks out a new woman.

Not only does she look better for all that expert attention, she feels better. She has for a couple of hours relaxed and been catered to, and it has been a refreshing interlude.

If a session in a beauty salon can do that for a housewife, why can't it do the same thing for the tired businessman? Apparently it can. For men's hair salons are springing up all over the country—and in them business is booming.

And why should we women sneer if the men are getting their own beauty shops? They've done a lot for women—maybe they can do as much for men.

Simple Sandwiches

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Something simple but substantial yet without fuss and feathers is particularly welcome right now. How about a platter of large, hearty sandwiches with milk or coffee and a bowl of fruit for supper tonight? Rather a relief from all the recent party fare.

Cranberry-Nut-Turkey

Sandwiches

(Serves 6)

2 1/2 cup whole berry cranberry sauce

3 tablespoons chopped walnuts

or pecans

6 slices cooked turkey or chicken

1/4 cup butter or margarine

12 slices enriched bread

Combine cranberry sauce and nuts. Spread bread slices with a teaspoon of butter. Spread 2 tablespoons cranberry mixture

on 6 buttered bread slices; top with a turkey slice and another buttered bread slice.

Peanut Butter-Marmalade

Sandwiches

(Serves 4)

3/4 cup peanut butter

1/4 cup orange marmalade

4 sliced frankfurter buns

Spread 3 tablespoons peanut butter on bottom half of bun.

Cover with 2 tablespoons marmalade and bun top.

Bacon has been one of mankind's favorite meats since recorded history. It represents about 12 percent of the live weight of a pig and in the United States refers to the fatty side between the fourth or fifth rib and the hipbone. Its chief value lies in its readily available energy or calories. A pound contains about 3,000 calories or three times as much as the average person will consume in an entire meal.

Poor Calculation

A college senior who received a new car for graduation asked his favorite girl to take a ride in it. They were traveling at more than 80 miles an hour, and finally the car refused to take a sharp turn. The boy and girl landed in a pile of wreckage, and he reached over to make sure she was all right, putting his arm around her shoulder.

"This is all very nice," she replied, "but wouldn't it be easier to just run out of gas?" (The Laughing Glass)

Dear Ann:

Reader Ribs Advice On Piercing Ears

Dear Ann Landers: It was wonderful to read in your column that pierced ears are "in" and that you heartily approve of pierced ears for girls 16 or over, provided, of course, that the procedure is performed by a physician and not "a friend with an icepick." The final announcement came with your own brave announcement that YOUR ears are pierced.

I have traveled extensively, Miss Landers, and I have noticed that in some areas of Africa the women have their noses pierced. They wear a small bone through the hole. This is considered "in" provided the bone is not too large or pretentious.

For a long time I have wanted to popularize pierced noses in the United States but I have been unable to get anyone to help me. If you would lead the way—perhaps run a photograph of yourself with the bone—the young girls could say, "See mother, it's all right, Ann Landers wears one herself."

My failure to get this trend started has me so depressed that I am considering psychiatric help. What can you suggest?—MAU MAU MANNY

Dear Manny: Why don't you put a rubber band around your head and snap out of it?

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are a working couple. The apartment next door was rented last September to a newly married couple. We couldn't care less about other people's business, but these two have terrible fights at least twice a week. They yell, they curse and they throw things at each other. It becomes really intolerable when he hits her and she screams for mercy. This has happened four times—three times after midnight and once when we had guests for dinner.

Please tell us what to do. Talking to the people is out of the question. My husband even refuses to say "Good morning" to them. Can the landlord make these people move? Thanks for your counsel.—THIN WALLS AND SHATTERED NERVES

Dear Thin and Shattered: As tenants you are entitled to peace and quiet. Speak to the landlord at once. He may ask you to call him the next time the couple has a fight. Follow his instructions no matter what the hour and you'll probably soon be rid of this pair.

Dear Ann Landers: I married a man whose wife died three years earlier. Their little boy Jim was just learning to walk. The two older children were six and seven.

I was thrilled to become a wife and mother all at once. I adored those children and took them to my heart as my very own. They called me Mom and I loved the sound of the word. The two older children are married now and we have a fine relationship. It is Jim I am writing about. Last week he brought a young woman home with him from college. When he introduced me, he said, "Mary, I want you to meet my stepmother." Ann, I was so hurt I almost broke down and cried. In all his life Jim has never called me anything but Mom.

My husband says, "Ignore it." But how can I? I wonder how many stepparents who read your column feel as I do? Am I overly sensitive? Should I tell Jim how he hurt me?—BEWILDERED

Dear B.: Some stepparents do not object to the term, others do. Those who do, should speak up.

Tell Jim you were disturbed when he introduced you as his stepmother because you were proud he had always called you "Mom." I'll bet it won't happen again.

"Instead of exchanging cards — they want to exchange quarters."

and running over

By Jim Brim

Now is the time to take stock of the year 1965. Check your income and expenses carefully. Now is the time to make last minute purchases for next year and be able to take them as an expense for 1965 if you pay for them.

1965 was the year yet for corn production. It saw higher prices for hogs than had been seen in years. Cattle prices came up but, quite unusually, are now lower than hogs.

Weatherwise 1965 was mostly good with the exception of a very wet period during soybean harvest. Our soil moisture supply is quite low now and we will need a considerable quantity of snow or rain to catch up for next year.

We don't know what 1966 will bring. We do know there will be both good and bad situations and the best New Year's resolution is to resolve to make the best of things as they come.

Now you should . . . Watch the kids play with their Christmas toys. Make New Year's resolutions.

Read the directions for use of Christmas presents. Weigh yourself.

Work in the farm shop. Remember that the way you feed and care of for brood cows now determines the number and quality of the calves to be dropped this spring.

Consider making a budget for the household. Planned spending for what is needed is much more rewarding than haphazard spending. Don't forget to make provisions for the unexpected.

Many have received plants for Christmas. A little care will keep them blooming longer and if you ask a florist or someone with experience you may be able to get them to bloom again.

Celebrate the New Year sanely. Do not drive unless you must on New Year's Eve.

Happy New Year to you and yours.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Treasury is going to borrow $5 billion in coming weeks—and doubtless pay the lenders more than it did when it borrowed a year ago. Its annual bill for interest already is around $12 billion.

Consumers who buy on the cuff seem likely to pay more for that privilege, too, whether it be interest included in the monthly payments for a new car or a mortgage for a new house.

Businessmen who will be borrowing from their banks to carry inventories, meet payrolls, or buy new equipment are already on notice they'll be paying more interest.

Workers will see a lot more deducted from their paychecks because withholding for Social Security and Medicare are at stiffly higher rates.

Price rises, either recently announced or believed to be inevitable, will take another big bite out of many personal incomes. These are expected to go on rising, if less slowly next year because of the Social Security tax hike. But many see much of the benefits of this lost to higher prices for goods and services and higher interest rates on consumer borrowing.

The U.S. Treasury expects to take in more money next year from its other forms of taxes. Chief increases will come from the income levy on larger personal incomes and the income tax on continuing, if slower, rise in corporate profits.

But the Treasury is likely to be paying out at an even faster clip. And that is why it must raise $5 billion in the investment markets in the first half of 1966. Spending on the Viet Nam war will be one additional drain on the Treasury. Costs of social programs already under way or scheduled to be started will be another.

So the Treasury must borrow while it waits for the tax receipts to roll in. It expects to raise $1.3 billion of new cash by increasing its weekly auction of three-month bills. It will also offer a billion in tax-anticipation bills to be turned in by corporations paying their taxes in June. It shortly will offer $1.5 billion short-term securities at a rate yet to be set. Later on additional borrowing will bring the total to $5 billion.

All of this outpouring of new government securities on the money markets would in itself tend to raise the interest costs to the Treasury. The search for the new $5 billion will be in competition with increased demands of business and consumers for loans.

But the interest charges also will be rising because of the recent move by the Federal Reserve Board. It hiked its charge to member banks who borrow from the Fed. And most of them quickly raised the interest rates they will charge their business and individual customers the next time they make a trip to the loan counters.

Mortgage rates already had started to rise, averaging 5.80 per cent in November against 5.75 per cent in October. Many think the general rise in interest rates will continue to push mortgage costs up next year.

Some lenders have raised the interest on loans to auto dealers to finance inventories. And a few banks have moved up charges on installment loans to finance car purchases.

So whether it's Uncle Sam or the average citizen, the cost of borrowing seems likely to rise. The price of many things may, too. And the tax collector—federal, state or local—seems sure to be asking for more.

Fox Is Annihilating Cottontails In This Area

JERSEYVILLE —The present open season on rabbits has been marked by the greatest scarcity of the small animals in many years according to reports of local hunters in the area.

Scarcity of rabbits is not due to any disease among members of the species, hunters indicate, but to the prevalence of foxes in the area, particularly the gray Reynards.

Gray Fox Great Enemy In localities where a lot of bulldozing has been done and the residue of brush, roots etc. left in piles, the gray fox makes his den. Rabbits are the chief source of food for the species, and this accounts for the scarcity of the cottontails in many areas.

George Gardner of Kane gives a common example of the rabbit hunting situation. "I have permission to hunt over an eleven hundred acre locality," he stated. "I went out some days ago to hunt rabbits. The tract over which I hunted had some of the best 'rabbit cover' one ever saw. 'The dogs jumped only five rabbits during the entire hunt which covered most of the acreage. I got three out of the five. My experience seems to be the same for most of the other rabbit hunters regardless of where they hunt.

Bulldozer Made Dens "The place where I hunted was north of Kane, and there has been bulldozing done in the area. The foxes really like a pile of brush, roots and dirt left by the dozers. They burrow into such piles and from there they operate in the acreage surrounding their dens. A gray fox is just about the worst enemy a rabbit has. A few pairs of grays can really clean out a rabbit population in a few weeks time."

Other older hunters recalled how more than thirty years ago they had neighborhood rabbit hunts. The hunts generally took place when there was a bit of snow on the ground.

Rabbit Bounty Oyster Stew "We took a bob sled along," one old timer recalled. "The rabbits were so numerous then we would get nigh on to a wagon box full. We took the rabbits to a butchershop where we got around ten cents for each one. The butcher shipped them out or sold the rabbits to his city customers. The money we obtained from the sale of the rabbits went into purchase of oysters, and we had a big neighborhood oyster stew. Sometimes it was at the home of one of the hunters, at the district school house or maybe the little church in the neighborhood. We had a lot of good fun and fellowship then."

LEGION AUXILIARY UNIT HAS PARTY AT CHANDLERVILLE

CHANDLERVILLE — A Christmas party and gift exchange was held during the regular monthly meeting of the Chandlerville American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday evening. Mrs. Grace Sanders and Mrs. G. L. Jurgens were hostesses. Mrs. G. L. Jurgens received a pin, honoring her for 40 years of continuous service to the auxiliary, during the evening. Mrs. Helen Amant, president, made the presentation.

Bingo prizes were awarded to Mrs. Raymond Cooper, Mrs. Robert Potts and Mrs. Ruby Force. Mrs. George Stuhmer received the door prize.

Named as January hostesses were Mrs. Perry Burns, Mrs. Edward Leinberger and Mrs. Robert Potts.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
CHRISTMAS DONATION — We are under obligations to Richard Dines, Proprietor of Dines' Restaurant, West State street, for a can of large and delicious fresh oysters as a Christmas gift. Friend Dines has become one of the popular institutions of Jacksonville. Long may he continue to prepare the delicious bivalves in his own peculiar style.

Christmas day was mild and pleasant, a slight thaw prevailing, being a welcome change from the severe cold snap we had experienced for several days before.

During the day the Union Fire Co. No. 1 paraded the streets, attended with music, and made a fine display. We have never seen a finer looking body of young men on parade.

Our usual Carrier's Address New Year's Day will be omitted this year. Experience has shown that the New Year's gratuities received by the carriers do not amount to enough to pay for getting out the address.

The President of the Morgan County Agricultural Society announced that a public meeting of the citizens of Morgan will be held in the Court House on Saturday, Jan. 8th, for the purpose of taking steps to secure the location of the Industrial College at Jacksonville.

The Livery Stable of A. C. Link, adjoining the Calaboose, has recently been purchased by Jno. C. Kelley, Esq., of St. Louis. Workmen are now engaged in making changes in the building, fitting it up in regular city style. We learn that a fine billiard room is to be fitted up in the storey above the stabling.

PERSONAL — We are under obligation to our popular city Butcher and estimable fellow citizen, Ed Lambert, for a very large and exceedingly fat loin roast of beef, sent to us as a Christmas donation. The meat butchered by Friend Lambert cannot be excelled in any market.

O. S. FOWLER COMING — By reference to an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the great father of Phrenology in this county, the celebrated O. S. Fowler of New York, is engaged to deliver a series of Phrenological lectures at Strawn's Hall, commencing this evening.

It is said that the Beuna Vista Vineyard, in Sonoma County, California, is the largest in the world. It consists of 6,000 acres, with 272,000 vines planted previous to 1865, and 700,000 planted this year. Last year the yield was 42,000 gallons of brandy. One hundred men are constantly employed, and double that number during the vintage.

The Richmond TIMES laments that the fine old Virginia gentlemen, who carried gold-headed canes and were the pride of society, are rapidly dying off. It ascribes the unusual mortality to their use of new apple brandy during the war instead of good old liquors, and to other deprivations and anxieties.

D. S. Warren, mail carrier from Iowa City to Washington, was frozen to death a few nights since on his way to the latter place. Mr. Warren was 78 years of age, and his horse being fast in a mudhole, and the night being dark from a snowstorm, the old man and his horse both perished.

An Irish drummer, who now and then indulged in a noggin of right good poteen, was accosted by the reviewing General, "What makes your nose so red?" "Please yer Honor," replied Pat, "I always blush when I spake to a general officer."

A maiden speech — "Ask papa."

FOREIGN

A singular incident is mentioned in connection with the death of M. Dupin, late Procurator-General of the French Court of Cassation. He died perfectly conscious of his state, but under a strange hallucination. He spoke of himself in the third person: 'M. Dupin is very ill, M. Dupin is about to die," and a few moments before he breathed his last he asked for water, which was brought to him. When he had drained the glass, he exclaimed, "I never saw a dead man so thirsty."

The most extensive brewery in the world is at Dublin, Ireland. It employs 300 men. It turns out about 15,000 hogshead of beer per day. Each workman is allowed one quart per day.

It is stated that the butchers in England are working up horseflesh into sausages on account of the high price of good beef, consequent upon the cattle plague.

It is stated that as the Emperor Napoleon III, is forbidden by his physicians to smoke, he is distributing his meerschaums among his friends.

'Some Guys Always Gripe'

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

AN KHE, Viet Nam — (NEA) — It is night. It is raining. It is three or four days without hot chow.

It is also a time for a soldier to complain about the whole miserable thing. And it is a time to listen.

"Boy," one fellow says, "I smell like a dog."

"What'd ya say?" another asked.

"I said I ain't had a shower in three weeks."

"That's nothing."

"Oh?"

"I haven't even brushed my teeth in that long."

"Aw, quit yer moanin'."

"All I said was I smelled like a dog."

"You don't have to advertise."

"Yeah, we all got noses, kid."

Next to his rifle and his mess kit, the wail of woe is a GI's best friend. It can't cool him when he's hot, turn canteen water to beer or ease the ache in his boots, but it comforts and it is the only alternative to saying nothing at all.

"Ya know what really gets me?"

"What?"

"It gets me we gotta do everything in this war."

"Yeah."

"Two weeks ago we're fighting Viet Cong. Last week we're on the picket line. And now this week we're out in the boon docks again."

"Diggin' and piggin'."

"I haven't had a hot meal in a week."

"Ain't nobody else doing any fighting here?"

"Yeah, the enemy."

No lights are allowed in the combat tent and the faceless voices mumble on from behind glowing cigarettes. It is humid, muddy and dreary. It is the third month of war for these people.

"I saw a guy in Saigon last week in jungle fatigues."

"So?"

"So he was a hospital clerk."

"And?"

"How come a clerk can get jungle fatigues but the First Calvary who is in the jungle has got to wear the regulars?"

"First Division ain't even got jungle boots yet."

"Those guys in Saigon . . . they're Viet Cons."

"The guy was a hospital clerk, I tell ya."

"Jeeze."

"He even had the damned things starched."

The men have been pulled from the farm, the gas station and the business office. They have been told when to eat, where to sleep and how to kill. The mind becomes disciplined but not the spirit. It continues happily to rebel.

"I got the solution."

"What?"

"Vote for me for president."

"You?"

"My platform would be, 'Equal rights for the dogface.'"

"Or how about, 'A war on C rations?'"

"Or maybe, 'All the way for a pass each day.'"

"Ask not what the soldier can do for you, but what you can do for the soldier."

"In your heart you know we're right."

They laugh and sigh and the language is terrible. They whine about the mail service, groan about the PX, mutter about the lack of ice and women. They lament the heat, the filth, the insects.

"Hey, can it!" someone grumbles. "I'm trying to sleep."

"Get him, will ya!"

"Yeah."

"Some guys are always griping."

"Those guys in Saigon . . . they're Viet Cons."

"The guy was a hospital clerk, I tell ya."

"Jeeze."

Predict Economy Will Increase By $40 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts believe the bubbling national economy will expand by another $40 billion in 1966.

They are confident of continued prosperity — so confident that the most pressing worry is rising prices resulting from the rapid military build-up in Viet Nam and the momentum of five years of steadily rising business activity.

In contrast, economists a year ago expressed some concern about a dip in business activity during 1965.

Even the higher interest rates applied by the Federal Reserve Board are not likely to stop the economic locomotive. The four members of the board who voted for the move believe the only effect will be to keep the fast-moving express from jumping the track.

At least some administration officials share this view, even though they — and President Johnson — criticized the board for acting in early December, some six or seven weeks before the annual announcement of the federal budget and its probable impact on the economy.

By a 4-3 vote, the board raised the discount rate — the interest paid by banks when they borrow from the Federal Reserve — from 4 to 4.5 per cent. The rate is the highest in more than three decades. It was designed as a checkrein on an economy that has shown more sustained strength than any previous peacetime boom.

The gross national product — the total of all public and private goods produced during the year — is expected to be $672 billion for 1965 compared to $628.7 billion in 1964.

The GNP should be running at an annual rate of more than $700 billion within two or three months and the 1966 total is estimated at $710 billion to $715 billion.

This forecast by government officials could be easily surpassed if spending to the Viet Nam war continues to mushroom and if the higher rates on credit fail to dampen business enthusiasm.

Polly's Pointers Cart Aids Window Cleaners

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—Washing windows on the inside is much simpler since I started using my utility cart with wheels. All needed supplies are put on the table and wheeled from window to window and room to room. I also use my cart in the same way when washing woodwork at house-cleaning time. No more wet rings on the floor from the pail, and a lot of stooping is saved.—MRS. D.K.C.

DEAR POLLY—My hint is a time-saver for those going on trips. In advance of your departure for an extended trip, perhaps to a foreign country, type an individual plain label for each of the people to whom you expect to send post cards. Include name, address, zip code number and, if from abroad, the usual U.S.A. When you buy the cards just stick the address label on the address side of the card to save looking in your address book and spending time on extra writing. This also serves as a check on whether or not you have remembered all those to whom you wish to send cards. No list is necessary. When the labels are exhausted everyone has been remembered. If you want a return address, carry along your own little printed stickers with your name and home address.—LE-NORE

DEAR POLLY—I wish someone would tell me how to clean a tapestry purse which has become soiled on one side. I like it so much and hate not being able to use it.—ANNA

DEAR POLLY—To add a bit of glitter to my buffet parties, I plan to serve CLEAR soups from a shiny, but never used chrome electric coffee maker with a spigot. The coffee urn was put aside several years ago when the newer ones with "keep warm" features came out. I will add garnishes to the soup after it is served. Since the pot is electric I can plug it in to rewarm the soup at any time.—MRS. W.L.H.

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is a way to repair slips that have lace trimming which always seems the first part to give way. On one of mine the embroidered hem was joined to the slip with a band of narrow lace. When it started to show signs of wear I replaced the lace with a band of washable satin ribbon. I mended the torn lace and then basted the ribbon over the lace, on the outside of the slip, and sewed it in place on the sewing machine. I began at the left front with a diagonal cut of ribbon. This cut makes the final joining place which can be covered with a bow made of ribbon. The tops of worn gowns and slips could be repaired in the same fashion. So happy mending to you all and perhaps I will meet you at the ribbon counter.—HELEN

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The premiere of "Doctor Zhivago" has fulfilled its promise: It is the leading contender for best picture in the 1965 academy awards.

David Lean may well repeat what he has accomplished twice before. With "Bridge On the River Kwai" in 1957 and "Lawrence of Arabia" in 1962, he provided films of such artistry that they dominated the Oscar race and provided awards for him as director.

"Doctor Zhivago" is a totally new background for Lean's work, but the theme is much the same. It is a man's search for his soul. This time the forbiddingly beautiful wastes of Russia, actually Finland, are substituted for the jungles of Asia and the deserts of Arabia.

Lean accepted a challenge with the new film. "Doctor Zhivago" was one of the most talked-about and unread novels of recent times. The obscurity of the period and the multiplicity of characters seemed to militate against its chances as film entertainment.

But Robert Bolt, a playwright who also scripted "Lawrence of Arabia," threaded the diverse figures into a sensible pattern, relying sometimes on coincidental meetings. He also invested the long-gone events with immediacy, the elements of revolution, anarchy and suppression are ever with us.

Basically, "Doctor Zhivago" concerns an artist's adjustment to society. A doctor-poet, Zhivago recognizes the decadence and cruelty of the czarist regime, later witnesses the insanity of war. Revolution only brings another tyranny: rule of the mob and the elevation of petty terrorists.

The brilliance of Lean's technique is in the fact that Zhivago's feelings are not expressed in speeches. The events happen and Zhivago reacts, mostly with his expressive face.

The choice of Omar Sharif for the leading role was critical. Since his face is not overly familiar to the movie public, there is no intrusion of his own personality. He becomes Zhivago. His compassionate eyes tell all that needs to be known as he witnesses the slaughter of revolutionaries on a Moscow street; later, the carnage of a village destroyed by a rampaging Soviet general.

Aside from Egyptian Sharif and American Rod Steiger, the leading cast members are Eng-

Jacoby On Bridge

When Finesse Is Dangerous

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The commonest bridge play of all is the finesse which is an attempt to make a low card perform the work of a higher card due to its position.
The finesse is such a basic play that an expert takes it as a matter of course and his only concern is to decide when to refuse to take one.

Today's hand illustrates one of these occasions. South finds himself in a comfortable six-spade contract after his partner has opened the bidding with one diamond.

Should West open anything but a diamond, South would win the trick, draw trumps and lead the jack of diamonds with every intention of playing low from dummy. Give West the king of diamonds and the finesse will succeed. Put it over in the East hand and the finesse will lose. In the first case South will make all the tricks. In the second case all but one. However, in that second case there would have been no way for South to make the grand slam so the finesse would have cost nothing barring the slight chance of a singleton king.
Suppose that West opens the three of diamonds. What should South do? There is considerable danger in finessing at this point. West might have opened a singleton and a losing finesse would be followed by a diamond return and South would lose both finesse and slam.

The ace of diamonds plays guarantees the contract unless East is void of diamonds. This is a possibility, but a singleton lead is far more.

Mrs. Hershel Reed and Mrs. Lucille Jefferson sang selections from the Messiah with Mrs. Ivins at the piano. Carol singing was also enjoyed. Mrs. Ruth Turner and Mrs. Ivins are music co-chairmen for the year.
The January meeting will be with Mrs. Duward Tice.
Members of the Timewell Lions club met Dec. 14th with dinner served at the Timewell Christian church. The Lions will sponsor Santa's arrival Dec. 24 at Timewell with treats for all children and for shut-ins at Nursing Homes in Mt. Sterling.
The Past Noble Grand club of the local Rebekah lodge will have its Christmas potluck at the home of Mrs. Charlene Daniels at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 20th. Those attending are to take a covered dish and their own table service. The evening will be spent socially.

Strikes, Steel, Seamen

Labor Strife Gives Drama To '65

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Strikes, steel and seamen provided the drama in 1965 labor strife in the United States.
But politics, prices and profits were the underlying bread-and-butter issues to union leaders—and to the Johnson administration.
While all the figures aren't in, strikes ran at the highest level in six years.
Steelworkers didn't strike but provided plenty of cliff-hanging dramatics before signing a new contract with the 10 major steel firms under pressure from President Johnson.
Seamen and longshoremen did strike, though—ignoring Johnson's pleas—in two costly walk-outs that tied up much of the nation's shipping on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts for 140 days.
The shipping strikes did little toward unraveling the continuing maritime dispute over wages, automation and government subsidies.

A couple of internal rebellions that unseated two long-time union presidents—James B. Carey and David J. McDonald—also enlivened the labor scene during the year.
McDonald lost to I. W. Abel in an election for the presidency of the United Steelworkers Union in the midst of the steel crisis.
Carey quit after 15 years as president of the International Union of Electrical Workers after the Labor Department charged widespread miscounting of votes in his re-election contest with Paul Jennings.
Carey denied any part in the alleged miscounting.
In politics, organized labor worked its lobbyists overtime on medical care, voting rights, anti-poverty and other "Great Society" legislation that was passed—but failed to win what it wanted most.

The repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act—which permits states to ban union shop contracts requiring all employees to join the union—was the AFL-CIO's No. 1 goal in Congress.
Viewed as a sure thing, the repeal bill passed in the House with little trouble, but ran into a Senate roadblock: Republican Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.
Some labor leaders grumbled privately that Johnson and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield could have broken Dirksen's filibuster, but the measure was shelved until the 1966 session.
Labor leaders were also miffed at getting nowhere in Congress on legislation to increase the federal minimum wage of $1.25 an hour and on improvements in the federal-state unemployment compensation system.

At yearend, the AFL-CIO was beating the drums at its biennial convention in San Francisco to build up grass roots pressure to enact the labor measures in 1966.
AFL-CIO President George

Meany warned his 13 million unionists that they may have to take a hard look at both political parties if the climate doesn't change in Congress.
Most Democrats and a few liberal Republicans count heavily on labor's support.

'66 Looks Good Too

Stocks Hit New Highs Third Year In Row

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — For the third straight year, the stock market in 1966 advanced to new highs and rolled up a record volume of trading.

Turnover exceeded a billion shares for the fifth year in Wall Street history, the other years being 1929, 1961, 1963 and 1964.

The 1966 rise was by no means a straight-line advance. The stock chart for the year looks somewhat like a lop-sided capital "N," with the dip in the middle much lower than the starting point and the crest at the end much higher.

Once more, booming profits and dividend payments as well as record national production accompanied the market movements. Escalation of hostilities in Viet Nam resulted in bigger defense spending. This was but one of the industries that feed the

The year's instalment of income tax cuts as well as excise tax reductions in midyear were further stimulants.

As the year ended, prospects were for even greater defense spending in 1966 because of the increasing United States commitment in Viet Nam. Auto industry spokesmen predicted another nine-million-car sales year in 1966. Business expansion and consumer spending continued an upturn. All of this gave stock market analysts as basis for cautiously optimistic forecasts of a rising market in '66.

The caution stemmed not only from the length of the boom but also from rising interest rates.

On Dec. 5 the Federal Reserve Board boosted the discount rate — the nation's basic interest charge — to 4½ per cent from 4 per cent. The increase was a surprise. The next day 3.94 million shares were traded on the New York Stock Exchange in the first hour and the Dow Jones industrial stock average plummeted 17.60 points. But stocks soon began recovering. By the next day all the loss was erased and the market was higher.

The rise in the key interest rate began spreading to other types of credit, however, and a debate began as to how much or how little this trend would effect the economy and the market in '66.

Stock prices began rising almost from the start of the year but ran into a period of irregularity in February and March amid jitters over Viet Nam and the decline in U.S. gold holdings. Records for production, profits and personal income gave stock prices a firm base, however, and by May 6 the stock averages also had a string of records behind them.

Then began a very steep market decline which did not bottom out until June 28. This wiped out all the gains on average not only for 1965 but as far back as June 1964—a full 12 months. It was a loss of 36.7 points in The Associated Press average and 92.93 points in the Dow Jones industrial average. Aside from normal profit taking, other factors played the of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, called recent price increases "disturbing" and warned that more increases could bring on restrictive monetary moves by the government.

Club To Sponsor March Of Dimes At Chandlerville

CHANDLERVILLE — The Chandlerville Senior Woman's club will sponsor the annual March of Dimes campaign to be held in January. Mrs. Harold Harrom is chairman of the drive.

The club's most recent meeting was held Dec. 13 in the local Christian church parlors with the president, Mrs. Adrian Arthalony, in charge.

Mrs. John Pearn, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes and gave the financial report. Mrs. George Hampton, safety chairman, discussed Christmas fire safety. Mrs. Clara Scott reported on a meeting she had attended in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Loren Thompson, Mrs. Grace Sanders, Mrs. Euna Lynn and Mrs. Lucille Murphy were appointed to supervise the distribution of Christmas baskets to needy persons and shut-ins.

Mrs. Asa Noltensmeier, program chairman, introduced Kristine and Rosanne Bell, who entertained the group with piano duets. Mrs. Morris Bell, whose topic was "Christmas Evergreens," displayed several holiday centerpieces with samples of various evergreens and cones. The Bell family makes holiday wreaths, centerpieces and cemetery sprays and wreaths at their home.

Mrs. Nell Shankland led group singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Scott at the piano.

A Christmas gift exchange was combined with collection of gifts for patients at Jacksonville State Hospital.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jephtha Armstrong. Mrs. Laverne Shores, Mrs. Harold Harrom, Mrs. Audrey Shores, Mrs. Mildred Warner, Mrs. Jack Carlock, Mrs. Clarence Marcy, Mrs. Harold Wessel and Mrs. James Merwin.

Top creamed spinach with sieved hard-cooked eggs plus chopped salted peanuts and watch the family gobble up this combination!

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Let's Go Birding

Medley Of Meadowlarks

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Fall, particularly late fall, is usually free from bird song. Even birds calls are scattered. Our Cardinal may announce its presence with a short chip; the Tree Sparrow, often called the "Winter Chippy," may tinkle its distinct "tseet" or musical "teelwit"; the Chickadee may chatter its "dee-dee-dee;" and the Slate-colored Junco may smack or click its ivory bill. However, our main music of late November and early December is the rattling of dry leaves, the sighing of evergreen boughs, and the tinkling of sparkling icicles.

Not so early December of 1965, at least in the meadows around Asbury Church and near Lake Jacksonville. As we were driving slowly in this area, wondering whether the meadowlarks had left us for their southern winter grounds and whether we could possibly hear once more the beautiful song of the Western Meadowlark, two of our Eastern Meadowlarks, rose from the fence row and sailed out over the meadow toward a great brush pile, a perfect cover for all winter birds. Now we could report that at least two were lingering with us on December 4.

Song Surprise

As we went on, to our surprise we caught a subdued medley of meadowlark songs, certainly from more than two birds. We heard many of those indefinable slurred whistles of our Eastern Meadowlark but did not dare to estimate the number of singers. We, however, felt that there were more than fifty in the distant meadow.

Not expecting to see the birds, we drove on. It was not long until a large flock of meadowlarks, at least a hundred, rose before us; and, separating, dropped down into the meadows and fields on either side of us to join others already feeding there.

As we moved on, we saw other meadowlark-filled fields. At times we caught the subdued chorus of song, a "communion with oneself." How many meadowlarks had we seen and heard? At least three hundred, and we feel that this is a very modest estimate.

Oh, yes, did we hear our Western Meadowlark again? Yes, from a distance, just once. And we were both surprised and satisfied.

BIRTHDAY WISH

The Junior page readers and your editor send these birthday marchers greetings and good wishes.

WHEN IS YOUR BIRTHDAY? Two weeks before your birthday (sooner if you wish) we will hold material for Sunday nearest your birthday) send your name, address, age, birthdate and parents names to the Junior Page, Jacksonville Journal Courier, Jacksonville, Ill., and you will be put in the Birthday Parade. If you wish send a photo. This may be picked up as soon as it appears in the paper.

Old Man Time

By Mary Pence Claywell

Old Man Time . . . is very wise, He's taught us many things . . . And wiped out narrow-mindedness. Which carried . . . many stings: The past and present now are linked In many different ways . . . And only ignorant braggarts would Decry . . . the "Good old days." And once again, we must admit, And most old people do . . . The present, built upon the past, Is but their "dreams," come true: And so, at last, the thing is solved, The past's a strong foundation, And very "real," for it supports This great and mighty Nation: And the "present," oft called shaky, Is the off-spring of the "past," And evils that sometimes creep in, Are doomed . . . and will not last: And though, some folk, despairing, Say, The Devil's way, we trod . . . And true, A lot are joining him, But "more" . . . are joining God!

FOUR-IN-ONE — An experimental four-in-one satellite package launched from Cape Kennedy aboard a three-stage Titan 3C rocket includes a Christmas present for ham radio operators. One of the four satellites placed in stationary orbit at 20,000 miles from earth will provide relay channels for radio hams. Built by space engineers who also happen to be hams, the satellite's speed and orbit will keep it at roughly the same spot above the earth to permit signal relaying 24 hours a day.

NEXT TEN YEARS IN SPACE

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

In the next ten years space exploration will rocket ahead even faster than it has in the last ten years. The much publicized Apollo manned moon landing by 1970 is only the beginning. After that will come orbiting space laboratories, bases on the moon and by the end of the decade manned explorations to Mars or Venus or both. Unmanned probes will scout the way for these expeditions while unmanned satellites are providing world wide TV and weather coverage.

For many years the Gemini will remain the old reliable work horse for space ventures. Starting the decade in 1966 astronauts in this craft will continue rendezvous and docking practice by joining with Agena-B satellite in orbit. About the middle of 1966 Gemini 10 will make the first of these touching rendezvous attempts.

Space Walks

Space walking will be fairly common by 1976, with astronauts doing regular maintenance work and carrying out experiments. One of the first jobs will probably be to pluck some of the meteor pitted "feathers" from the Pegasus III satellite shown in the picture at the top of the column.

Gemini flights will continue even after the three-manned Apollo flights begin in 1967. Later that year a Titan III-C will rocket an unmanned test model of the Air Force's MOL (Manned Orbiting Laboratory) into a 300 mile high orbit.

The first manned MOL flight will come in the first half of 1968. During their thirty days in orbit the two man crew of this twenty foot long, can-shaped craft will be able to leave their spacesuits off. The crew compartment and work area will have a comfortable enough atmosphere for shirt sleeves. There will be a third compartment leading to the Gemini ferry and to outer space.

New Heat Shield

This Air Force Gemini, called Gemini-B, will have a hatch in the heat shield so that astronauts can go back and forth from the MOL without going outside. Tests of this new heat shield will begin with an unmanned craft early next year.

The Titan III-C booster of the MOL, and the Apollo carrying Saturn V, will not be built up stage by stage on the pad as other rockets are. Instead they will be constructed in a building away from the pad then moved upright to the pad for fueling and launching under a new system called ITL (Integrate - Transfer - Launch). Four rockets can be readied for launch while three more are being fueled and fired by this system. Also, the crews assembling and checking out the rockets will be able to work in a comfortable air-conditioned building instead of an open service tower.

The ITL system for the Titan III-C is already in use and the one for the Saturn V will be ready in plenty of time for that giant rocket's first launching in 1967. The Titan III-C is moved to the launch pad by two diesel locomotives running side by side on parallel tracks. The Saturn V, however, will be carried down a specially built roadway by a huge caterpillar treaded mechanical turtle called a Crawler Transporter.

RARE HIDING PLACE

By John Rankin

As the dim beginning of dawn cast its shadows over the snow covered mountain tops a faint light from an open fireplace glowed through the window of the quaint little cabin in the valley. White smoke floated lazily from a rock chimney at one end of the log structure to mingle with the clear, crisp wintry air.

Moving about in a leisurely manner in the one-room cabin Sam Clayton, elderly, tall and gaunt with white hair and scraggy features, filled his corn-cob pipe with home-grown tobacco, lit it with a live coal from the open fire and put a pot of coffee to brew on the glowing embers. Then he moved slowly to the window to look out over the valley to the distant ice-capped mountains.

For several moments the rangy backwoodsman surveyed the area with a sharp eye and then moved from the window to a makeshift ladder extending to a loft or attic of sorts at the back of the room.

"Come down and prow around a bit while you can, son," he called up the opening. "Most likely the sheriff will come looking for you before the day is over."

Moments later the sound of footsteps came from the attic and Sid Logan, a sandy-haired youngster about 12 or so with sharp looking eyes and freckled nose, came skipping down the ladder with a broad grin on his boyish features.

"Gee! Mr. Sam," he exclaimed gleefully. "It's great to get away from that creepy place! Maybe Judge Parker won't send for me this time and then I can live with you and go to that little school back in the hills."

The veteran hill man shook his head dubiously. "When your Aunt Hilda passed on I wanted to take you under my wing, son. But the judge was dead set against it—said it wouldn't be legal or something and hustled you off to that school for homeless boys. Reckon it's not likely he'll hear to it now, seeing as how you've run away from the place and come here to hide."

The youngster ran to the window to look wistfully out over the valley to the mountain pass. "But if the sheriff can't find me then the judge can't send me back to that creepy place, eh Mr. Sam?"

Ward of Court

The elderly man turned from the fireplace where a pan of bacon sizzled on the glowing embers. "But you're a ward of the court, son," he said with feeling. "And Judge Parker warned me about hiding you out here . . . even though your Aunt Hilda declared in her last days that she wanted you to live with me."

"Sure she did but the judge said it wasn't lawful or something unless she had put it in writing," Sid added with a sigh. "Seems like a crazy kind of law to me."

A thoughtful look spread across Mr. Sam's scraggy features and a new light sparkled in his faded eyes. "Yeah, something like a will, maybe," he said quietly, and turned back to the fire.

Late that afternoon the mountain's evening shadows were coming swiftly down when the rangy frontiersman quietly closed the door behind him to the deserted and weather-beaten little dwelling deep in the hills from his own abode. He hesitated a moment to glance about at the crumbling rock chimney, the rusty bucket still hanging by the well and the ramshackle barn down in the valley. Then with a dismal shake of his head he turned from the scene and headed down the rugged, narrow trail for home.

Secret Mission

At daybreak the next morning the elderly man was hustling around in the cabin with an air of confidence in his every move when Sid came down the attic rubbing his eyes drowsily. "You taking off someplace, Mr. Sam?" he asked casually.

"Have to see a fellow about something across the mountain today, son," Mr. Sam explained as he pulled on his walking boots. "And don't let the sheriff lay his hands on you while I'm gone, mind you!" he added in a crisp tone. Then he got up and put on his heavy coat and left.

It was well after midnight when Sid awakened with a start when the guinea hens roosting in a tree just outside the cabin sounded a shrill, ear splitting alarm.

Siamese Twin Girls Separated; May Survive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Siamese twin girls, separated in three-hour surgery shortly after birth, have a better than even chance of living, their attending pediatrician says.

The mother of the infants, when told of the emergency operation, took the news well.

The babies were born Christmas day with a common bladder and intestines.

Sunday, as Mrs. Robin Mantony passed her 20th birthday at one hospital, daughters Lisa Marie and Sheila Norine appeared to be holding their own at another.

Said their pediatrician 36 hours after surgery: "They're both still moving around, which is the most important sign to us. Everything is functioning, and their color is good."

The doctor added, however, "There is no way to tell what the end result will be."

The twins, together weighing 12 pounds, were born by Caesarean section at Holy Cross Hospital in suburban San Fernando, then rushed to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where a team of 18 doctors, nurses and technicians performed the surgery.

Dr. Stephen L. Gans, who assembled the team which separated the girls, said neither breathed for several minutes after birth, until mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was applied.

Dr. Gans said the babies were joined in the lower abdomen by a bridge of tissue six inches in diameter which contained a common bladder and a thin, membranous sac around intestines of both babies.

He said that the sac broke, either during or before delivery, leaving the intestines exposed to the air and hazards of bacteria. "This forced surgery immediately," he said.

The father is Gerald Mantony, 20, a film laboratory technician.

day in a collision on U.S. 50 near Clay City.

A freshman at the University of Illinois, Champaign, George Lorenz, 18, of Homewood, was killed Friday when he was struck by a car while crossing a street in Harvey. Also killed in Harvey the same day was an 83-year-old man, John J. Sarna. He too was struck by a car as he attempted to cross a street.

Elmer J. Roath, 64, of South Elgin, Ill., was found dead Sunday in the wreckage of his car.

A Caseyville man, William H. Gray, was killed Sunday when his car left the road.

James A. Curran, 19, of Waterloo, Ill., was killed Saturday when his car hit a culvert near Red Bud.

A Zion woman, Mrs. Donald Winick, 32, died Friday after an accident on Illinois 173.

Mark Frank, 41, was driving his sister's car early Friday. It left the road and struck a tree. Frank was killed.

As he stepped out of his car in Springfield Friday to check on damage caused when his car collided with another, Doyle McKeever, 65, of Holton, Kan., was struck by a third car and killed.

Two women and a man were killed in separate accidents in Chicago Friday. They were Mrs. Virginia Reich, 50; Mrs. Mary Morrison, 60; and an unidentified man.

Robert Dummer, 28, of Garden Prairie, Ill., was killed Friday in a crash on Illinois 23 south of Harvard.

Killed Thursday in a collision on Illinois 88 north of Peoria was Martin Strange, 26, of Rockford. Eight others, including seven members of the Strange family were injured.

A 17-year-old youth, David Courtney of suburban Peoria, was killed Thursday in an accident on Illinois 83 northeast of Peoria.

Jack Phillips, 20, of St. Elmo, was killed Sunday when his car left the road and ran into a ditch. The accident took place on Illinois 33, three miles east of Effingham.

Three Illinois highway deaths were reported earlier.

Edward Teerlinck, 66, of rural Anawanna, died Sunday night in a two-car crash at an intersection in East Moline.

Mrs. Nellie Gregory, 81, Centralia died Sunday in a Highland Park hospital from injuries suffered Saturday in a two-car crash in Trenton. She was riding in a car driven by Dorothy Ford of Centralia which collided at a highway intersection with a vehicle driven by Peter Pet. of West Frankfort.

Kathryn Jennings, 20, of Batavia, an X-ray technician, was fatally injured Sunday when the car she was in veered from Illinois 25 north of Aurora and plunged into an overpass opening into an abandoned railway cut. James Bernard, 19, the driver, was injured.

Luci Johnson Promises To Finish Education

CHICAGO (AP)—Luci Baines Johnson's Christmas present to her father was a promise that she would try to finish her education after her marriage to airman Pat Nugent, 22, of Waukegan, Ill. next summer, the Chicago Tribune said today.

The Tribune quoted the President's daughter as saying: "Right now I have every intention of getting as much education as possible. You never know what is going to happen, and I feel every woman should be prepared. Besides, I like to study and I love my school."

Luci, who is 18, showed her engagement ring Sunday as she and her fiancé left St. Bartholomew's Roman Catholic Church in Waukegan after attending noon Mass.

President Johnson often has expressed a desire that both of his daughters complete a college education. Luci, his younger daughter, will have finished her freshman year in Georgetown University's school of nursing before she is married.

Her sister, Lynda Bird, flies to Wyoming today where she'll be a guest at the home of a young man she met last summer on a trailer tour of the West.

President Johnson said he was pleased to hear Luci's promise.

To accompany Humphrey to the Far East, Johnson is sending one of his own closest advisers, presidential aide Jack Valenti.

Humphrey said Sunday on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters' Round-Up" that "as a vice president sir, you are not supposed to be at the front of the stage. I consider my role to be one of working within the government and then to take the policies of the government out to the people to explain as best I can, as to how this government is attempting to fulfill its responsibilities on the world scene."

Humphrey will return to Washington, Jan. 2, eight days before Congress returns to work.

The Humphrey party, including Mrs. Humphrey and the vice president's youngest son, Douglas, 18, leave Andrews Air Force Base at mid-afternoon, stop off at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage, Alaska, to refuel, and then head straight out across the Pacific for Tokyo.

Actions against the Reds, reported killing seven Viet Cong during the day.

Air attacks were made only on suspected Viet Cong concentrations in South Viet Nam, U.S. spokesmen said. Ground action also was reported in low key for the past 24 hours.

Beyond confirming the suspension of the aerial war which steadily had been closing in on the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial belt, U.S. officials in Saigon said only that the orders came from Washington.

This raised speculation that the pause was a new invitation to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's regime to come to the peace table. U.S. officials declined to guess how long the lull would last.

In the south, U.S. casualty lists grew.

A U.S. Army truck carrying soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division hit a mine 30 miles north of Saigon. Casualties were reported heavy.

The Viet Cong detonated a mine at a government troop barracks at Sa Dec, 70 miles southwest of Saigon, just as two Vietnamese platoons were starting the work day.

"It killed or hurt a lot of soldiers," a U.S. Army officer said.

An adjacent compound for American advisers escaped the force of the explosion. A second mine was found and disarmed.

Twenty miles southwest of the barracks, a Communist mine blew up a Jeep, killing two American soldiers and an American civilian.

U.S. Marines reported they killed 12 Viet Cong while taking light casualties in 20 brushes with the Communists during 233 patrols around the big U.S. base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of the capital.

The Air Force raised its toll of losses to Communist missile fire over North Viet Nam to 10 planes. A spokesman said an F-4C Phantom jet downed during an assault on the Bac Cau bridge 85 miles north of Hanoi Dec. 19 had been hit by a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile. The pilot was rescued.

Some military commanders were reported concerned by the pause in air attacks since they felt it gave the Communists a chance to step up the movement of men and supplies toward the Ho Chi Minh Trail leading to the south.

Wilkins Fully Approves Change In Racial Unit

By JOSEPH E. MOHART

WASHINGTON (AP) — The young man chosen by President Johnson to direct the Community Relations Service fully endorses its impending shift to the Justice Department.

Roger W. Wilkins, 33, discounts reports the change lowered morale in the government's racial reconciliation agency. It has been in the Commerce Department since its creation by the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

He vows to bring his own "great sense of personal anguish" to bear on the plight of minority group citizens in the slums of America's big cities.

It was widely reported that acting director Calvin Kytle's resignation two weeks ago was prompted by his opposition to the impending move to Justice.

— which will occur automatically unless Congress objects within 60 days of submission of the reorganization plan in January.

"I've never opposed this move," the lean, intense Wilkins said in an interview. "It made a lot of sense to me in a lot of ways before the President announced it. And these reports of low morale are highly exaggerated. Sure, there was some uncertainty about the future in some people's minds. But we've only had two resignations (aside from Kytle's), and they've both been because better jobs were offered."

Wilkins, who has been community planning director in the service since October 1964, said he has been working closely with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and other top Justice officials since his nomination 10 days ago.

"I can say unequivocally that their attitude toward the service, their intentions, their support, has been total," the young lawyer said. "It's really been wonderful."

Wilkins is the nephew of Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The younger Wilkins feels

Wilt Fills Role As Playmaker; 76ers On Move

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers are getting much needed help from their newest playmaker — Wilt Chamberlain.

Chamberlain, who has been displaying his versatility by moving into the No. 10 spot among the National Basketball Association's assist leaders this season, continued in his new role Sunday night as he led the 76ers to a 121-107 victory over San Francisco.

Chamberlain scored 33 points, pulled down 17 rebounds, blocked 16 shots and officially received credit for eight assists.

The victory kept the third-place 76ers one-half game behind Cincinnati in the Eastern Division race.

The Royals downed St. Louis 117-115 on Oscar Robertson's last — second shot. First — place Boston rode Sam Jones' hot-shooting to a 120-99 victory over Baltimore in the only other game scheduled.

Chamberlain, a virtual one-man gang, got just enough assistance from Chet Walker and Bill Cunningham. Walker scored 13 points in the first quarter and Cunningham, who wound up with 19, led the 76ers in the third period after San Francisco threatened.

Guy Rodgers was high man for the Warriors with 31 points. Robertson missed a shot with five seconds left against the Hawks, then got the ball back after Jerry Lucas' tip-in failed and sank the winning basket. Robertson finished with 37 points, and Lucas scored 24. Bill Bridges topped St. Louis with 21.

Jones scored 12 points in the last five minutes of the second period as the Celtics built a 63-56 halftime lead, then came off the bench and hit two free throws and a basket in the fourth period after the Bulls had closed to within 90-88.

Jones scored a game high 34 points. Bailey Howell and Johnny Green shared honors for Baltimore with 18 each.

In Saturday's games, Boston whipped Baltimore 113-99, Los Angeles defeated Detroit 115-106, St. Louis crushed New York 131-111, and Cincinnati beat San Francisco 119-113.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) —

The Green Bay Packers have survived a fight to the death against the gallant Baltimore Colts, but the scars may show next Sunday when they face Cleveland for the National Football League title.

Injured Packer quarterback Bart Starr and halfback Paul Hornung couldn't hide the pain in the locker room after a 25-yard Don Chandler field goal gave Green Bay a 13-10 sudden death victory in the playoff for the NFL's Western Conference crown.

"I can't get dressed," said Hornung, battered by the sky-high Colts defense, out to win a conference title for a team with a running back at quarterback.

Hornung's ribs ached, and so did his knee and wrist. He spoke and breathed with difficulty and held his head stiffly to one side.

Starr appeared to be only slightly better off. He had to be assisted from the field after the very first play from scrimmage, when he rammed at full speed into a Colt blocker in trying to stop Don Shinnick's 25-yard touchdown ramble with a recovered fumble.

Starr refused to discuss his injury, but his ribs were swathed in tape and he moved rigidly.

"I'm pretty sore," he admitted.

Dowler Also Hurt
End Boyd Dowler was also hurt, aggravating a chronic ankle injury. Tight end Bill Anderson, who made seven more catches after his first-play fumble that allowed the Colts' only touchdown, was so groggy that he couldn't remember game details.

"This was the roughest game I've ever been in," said Packer defensive back Herb Adderley.

The game was a savage defensive struggle.

The Colts, with Tom Matte at quarterback because of injuries to John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo, needed to get defensive-induced breaks to win. They got them, but they weren't enough because the Packers also got breaks.

The critical one came with about five minutes gone in the third period and the Packers' trailing 10-0.

High Pass Hurts
Tom Gilburg went back to punt on fourth down with the line of scrimmage at the Colts' 40. The pass from center Buzz Nutter was high and Gilburg had to leap for it, then struggle to get the ball under control. By the time he did, the Packer defenders had swarmed in and nailed him at the 35.

Zeke Bratkowski, who completed 22 of 39 passes for 248 yards after replacing Starr, threw to Carroll Dale who made a diving catch at the one. Hornung, who was sidelined a quarter later, went in from there.

The Packers tied it on Chandler's first field goal—a 22-yarder with only 1:56 left to play in the game. A 15-yard penalty against the Colts aided the tying drive.

Still another break came in the extra period after runs by Matte moved the ball into field goal position with eight minutes gone in the overtime.

Field Goal Short
Lou Michaels, who had kicked a 15-yarder in the second period, tried a field goal from the 47. This time the ball from center was low. There was a split-second delay in teeing the ball and the kick was short.

The Colts, who will now go to an NFL playoff bowl meeting with Dallas in Miami, Fla., Jan. 9, were held by the Packers to 143 yards rushing and only 32 passing. Baltimore got nine first downs. Green Bay netted 250 yards in the air, 362 yards overall and 23 first downs.

The Colts stayed in the game with the help of Shinnick's touchdown pass interception by Bob Boyd and Jerry Logan that nipped Green Bay drives, and a goal line stand that stopped the Packers' on the one on three straight running plays in the first half.

The Packers defeated the Colts twice in the regular season which both teams finished with identical 10-3-1 records.

The deadlock had forced the conference playoff, the first in the NFL since 1958 when the New York Giants defeated Cleveland 10-0 and then went on to meet the Colts in the championship game. The Colts won the title that year 23-17 in the only previous sudden death finish in the NFL.

Weekend Fights
BOLOGNA, Italy—Don Johnson, Los Angeles, knocked out Carlos Dos Santos, Brazil, featherweights, 5.

NAGOYA, Japan—Yoshio Nakane, 118, Japan, outpointed Manny Elias, 120½, Tucson, Ariz., 10.

BERLIN—Willi Quatuor, 139, Germany, outpointed Juan Albarnaz, 140, Spain, 15.

The New York Mets had the longest losing streak in the National League last season. It carried through 11 games.

Big Ten Teams In Tournaments

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Ten schools enter a busy week of basketball today with holiday tournaments capturing most of the attention.

All but two of the teams are spread from coast to coast in tournament play. Ohio State enters Wake Forest Tuesday night and West Texas State New Year's Eve, and Pennsylvania will meet Wisconsin at Madison Wednesday night.

Five Big Ten squads go into tournament action today. Illinois meets Georgetown in the Holiday Festival in New York; Michigan State meets the Marine Service team in Honolulu; Purdue plays St. John's in the Los Angeles Classic; Minnesota and Cornell meet in the Quaker City event in Philadelphia; and Michigan tackles Arizona State in Portland, Ore.

Tuesday, Northwestern meets Southern California in Los Angeles, and on Wednesday, Iowa plays Arkansas in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

Miamians Like Twilley's Moves

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Howard Twilley got his first taste of the Orange Bowl Saturday, and Miami's got their first look at one of their prize pro football packages.

Twilley grabbed only four passes for 69 yards but one was a diving catch of a 30-yarder that brought the South within striking distance of its tying touchdown en route to a 21-14 victory over the North.

Twilley has been signed by the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

He made some slick moves Saturday in the face of defensive harassment that stripped him of his classic square-out pattern.

South defensive players found the no-blitzing rule a bother.

"With so short a time to put offensive plays in, blitzing might be too much," said Coach Glenn Dobbs said. "It does place a limitation on the defense, although this year the defensive teams didn't seem to need much help."

EMERSON FIRES AUSSIES TO LEAD

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Roy Emerson, flashing the form that made him the most feared amateur in the tennis world, disposed of Spain's young Juan Gisbert 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 Monday, and sent Australia to a 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Lanky Fred Stolle rallied for a 10-12, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5 victory over Spain's best, veteran Manuel Santana, in the first match on the lightning fast, grass center court at White City Stadium. The match lasted two hours, 57 minutes.

The twin triumph made the Australians overwhelming favorites to take the best-of-five series, perhaps even clinch it in Tuesday's doubles.

There, Santana and Luis Arilla are scheduled to oppose an Australian team yet to be named.

Emerson and Stolle are the likely choice if Captain Harry Hopman wants to wrap it up in a hurry. They already own the U.S. National doubles title and rank as one of the best amateur teams in the world.

The round concludes with the final two singles matches Wednesday.

Rangers, Bruins Fighting, But Not For Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four teams are fighting for first place in the tight National Hockey League race. The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins are just fighting.

The Detroit Red Wings closed ground in the point race by nipping league-leading Montreal 1-0 Sunday night on Alex Delvecchio's last-minute goal, and the Toronto Maple Leafs stayed within range of the lead by playing second-place Chicago to a 1-1 standoff.

The Rangers and Bruins, meanwhile, staged their second straight basement battle royal. New York, triggered by Bob Nevin's hat trick, won the game 6-4 but the Bruins, led by tough Ted Green, held their own in the rematch of a punchfest that started in Boston Saturday night.

Green, who returned to the Bruins' lineup after a month-long illness and set up three goals as the tailenders snapped a 12-game winless skid by beating the Rangers 4-2 Saturday, didn't do much playmaking in the Madison Square Garden return bout. The pugnaeous defenseman spent more than half the game sifting out penalties.

Green's 36 penalty minutes fell one short of the all-time single-game mark held by teammate Reg Fleming, who set it five years ago at New York while performing for Chicago.

Delvecchio rapped home Norm Ullman's rebound with 56 seconds left, moving the third place Wings within four points of Montreal. The Canadiens haven't won at Detroit in their last 12 visits, dating back to February, 1964.

Chico Maki's power play goal midway in the last period knocked the score at Chicago, checking the Maple Leafs' five-game winning streak. Toronto, slipped one point behind Detroit in the standings but remained only four short of the Hawks and five off Montreal's pace.

The Canadiens edged Detroit 4-3 and Toronto topped Chicago 5-3 in Saturday night's other games.

BIG SPENDERS
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Attendance and pari-mutuel records were broken during the 11-day 1965 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque.

Officials said total attendance at the 28th annual exposition was 567,650. The previous record was 555,000 set in 1964.

The pari-mutuel handle during the 11-days of horse racing totaled $5,052,926. It was the first time the handle ever exceeded the $5 million mark.

Attendance at the race track totaled a record 91,000, compared to 87,900 in 1964.

Kemp Puts Skids On Chargers Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — San Diego Charger coach Sid Gillman once remarked: "We can't win with Jack Kemp."

Apparently Gillman's Chargers can't win against him, either.

Kemp led the Buffalo Bills to the American Football League championship for the second straight year Sunday, embarrassing his former mates with a 23-0 shutout. He did it last year, 20-7.

Three years ago, Kemp incurred a sprained finger on his throwing hand and the Chargers wanted to put him on the injured list. But the Bills executed the coup of AFL history, picking up Kemp for the $100 waiver price.

Sportswriters selected Kemp the game's most valuable player, a role for which Jack was chosen by the Associated Press for his play all year.

Kemp got all the points he needed in the first quarter by firing an 18-yard touchdown strike to end Ernie Warlick. Moments later, Butch Byrd delivered the conquering blow by racing 74 yards down the sideline to score on a punt return.

Pete Gogolak managed to enter the defensive stalemate long enough to boot three second half field goals of 11, 39 and 32 yards.

Kemp completed 8 of 19 passes for 155 yards but his completions were made when needed.

Charger quarterback John Hadl hit on 11 of 23 pass attempts for 140 yards but had two interceptions and was plagued by the hard-charging Bill defenders.

The Chargers threatened to get on the scoreboard three times. Two drives bogged down and Heb Travieso failed on field goal attempts of 35 and 31 yards.

It was the fourth time the Chargers lost an AFL title game, winning only in 1963. The Bills are 2-0 in the big one.

A crowd of 30,361 witnessed the battle in Balboa Stadium. The Bills received $5,189.92 apiece for winning and the Chargers, $3,447.85 for losing.

College Hardcourt Meets Take Front

By TED MEIER

Vanderbilt and Syracuse, two unbeaten teams with national championship aspirations, clash in one of the top games this week in college basketball.

By the luck of the draw the Commodores from the Southeastern Conference and the Orangemen, a leading Eastern independent, are pitted against each other Tuesday night in the completion of the first round of the Los Angeles Classic, one of the numerous holiday tournaments scheduled throughout the nation this week in every section.

The Vander-Orange meeting also brings together two of the season's outstanding players, Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt and Dave Bmg of Syracuse.

Lee has led Vandy to eight straight victories over Wittenberg, Tennessee, North Carolina, Wake Forest, Army, Western Kentucky, UCLA, Santa Barbara, and Northwestern.

Bing has sparked the Orange to seven in a row with conquests of Buffalo State, Buffalo U., Cornell, Kent State, Bowling Green, Penn State and Connecticut.

Landy's victory over Western Kentucky knocked the Hilltoppers out of the unbeaten. Syracuse's triumph over Penn State similarly toppled the Nittany Lions from the perfect group.

The Los Angeles Classic actually gets underway tonight with St. John's of New York meeting Purdue and UCLA, the national champions who have fallen out of The Associated Press Top Ten with a 4-3 record, pitted against Louisiana State.

Northwestern plays Southern California in the final first round game Tuesday following the Vanderbilt-Syracuse clash.

Nine other major holiday tournaments start today. By the end of the week 23 major college affairs and numerous non-tournament games.

Included in the latter category are the two games involving the Duke Blue Devils, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll. The Blue Devils, 7-1 to date, meet Notre Dame at Greensboro, N.C., Friday night and Wake Forest at Greensboro Saturday night.

Illini In Tourney
NYU plays Providence and Colorado State U. tangles with Boston College tonight in the Holiday Festival at New York after an afternoon twin bill pairing Illinois against Georgetown, D.C., and Army against Villanova.

An afternoon doubleheader, Temple vs. St. Bonaventure and LaSalle vs. Brigham Young, gets the Quaker City Classic under way at Philadelphia. Cornell meets Minnesota and St. Joseph's, Pa., takes on Niagara tonight to finish the first round.

All-America Cazzie Russell and the Michigan Wolverines, whipped last week by Duke and Butler, go against Arizona State tonight in the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., where Oregon State plays the Air Force in another first round game.

Other first round pairings to night: Georgia Tech vs. Louisville and Boston University vs. Miami, Fla. in the Hurricane Classic at Miami, Fla.; Oklahoma State vs. Oklahoma and Missouri vs. Nebraska in the Big Eight at Kansas City, Mo.; Eastern Kentucky vs. William and Mary and Harvard vs. Detroit in the Motor City Classic at Detroit; Rhode Island vs. Wyoming and Bowling Green vs. Oklahoma City in the All-College at Oklahoma City, Okla.; Pepperdine vs. U. of Pacific and Santa Clara vs. San Francisco in the WCAC at San Jose, Calif.; and Michigan State vs. Hawaii Marines and St. Louis vs. Tennessee in the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu.

Others Open Tuesday
Tuesday has the opening of the Charlotte, N.C., Invitational; the Lobo Invitational at Albuquerque, N.M.; the Kodak Classic at Rochester, N.Y.; the Evansville, Ind., Invitational.

Wednesday there's the start of the American Legion Tourney at Seattle, Wash.; the Poinsettia Classic at Greenville, S.C.; the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La.; the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; the Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex.; the Arkansas State Invitational at Jonesboro, Ark.; and the Albright Invitational at Reading, Pa.

The Queen City Classic at Buffalo, N.Y., starts Thursday, the same night the championship finals will be played in the Holiday Festival, Quaker City Classic, American Legion, Rainbow Classic, Los Angeles Classic, Poinsettia Classic, Sugar Bowl, Gator Bowl, Big Eight, Far West Classic, All-College, Sun Carnival, WCAC, Arkansas State and Albright invitational.

JONES MEETS MCBRIDE
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Doug Jones, the former top-ranked contender who is hoping to get a title fight with heavyweight champion Cassius Clay this winter, takes on veteran Archie McBride of Trenton, N. J., in a 10 rounder at Miami Beach Tuesday night.

The 28-year old New Yorker lost on a controversial decision to Clay in a 10-rounder at New York March 13, 1963. Clay went on from there to win the title.

Jones skidded on defeats by Billy Daniels and George Chuvalo in 1964, but started on a comeback this year.

Johnson Proves Surprise Find

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) —

The Atlanta Falcons apparently came up with a winner when they dipped into the small college ranks and picked quarterback Randy Johnson of Texas A&I as their second choice in the National Football League draft.

Playing against major college rivals for the first time, Johnson shattered three passing records Saturday when he led the South to a 23-19 conquest of the North in the annual Blue-Gray game.

The 6-foot-4 senior, admittedly awed by the speed and ability of the North team, passed like a professional and engineered two fourth-quarter scores that wiped out a 19-8 North lead.

Johnson wound up with 20 completions in 33 passes for 308 yards. He tossed two touchdown strikes, scored one himself on a plunge and passed for a two-point conversion.

Although he was named Little All-America quarterback, Johnson was almost unknown nationally until he was drafted by the Falcons.

Johnson's passing overshadowed the running of Willard Sander of Ohio State, voted the top offensive player for the North after he gained 77 yards rushing. Top defensive player for the North was Bob Riggins, Penn State halfback who set up two blue touchdowns by intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble.

THREE GIANT TUNA
POINT JUDITH, R.I. (AP) —

The three heaviest tuna taken in the 1965 United States Atlantic Tuna tournament were caught by Crompton Earle (743 pounds) of the Point Judith Tuna Club; Paul Howland (717) of the Narragansett Salt Water team and Robert L. Davis (659) of the Montauk, N.Y., Deep Sea Anglers.

JOHNSON RANKS THIRD
CINCINNATI (AP) — The 130 runs batted in by Cincinnati Reds third baseman Deron Johnson in 1965 was the third highest total for one season in the club's history. Ted Kluszewski drove in 141 runs in 1964 and Frank Robinson batted in 136 in 1962.

HE'S USED TO BARGAINS
BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland breeder Leonard P. Sasso once got a bargain when he paid $80,000 for Globemaster. Now he has a real bargain horse in Lovely Gypsy.

He got the Gypsy for only $2,700 and he's aiming her for the Nov. 27 Marguerite Stakes at Pimlico. It's $65,000 race.

1966 SAFE BOATING WEEK
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Safe Boating Week in 1966 has been set for July 3-9, Capt. D. W. Sinclair, chairman of the committee and head of the U.S. Coast Guard recreational boating safety division has announced.

Seven National League clubs drew more than one million fans in 1965 with the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Houston Astros well above the two million figure.

When George D. Widener's Cornish Prince won the Quaker City Handicap at Garden State's opening (Camden, N.J.) this fall it marked the 3-year-old bay colt's seventh 1965 victory in 10 starts.

The Minnesota Twins had the best night game attendance in the American League last season. The champions drew 769,317 fans under lights at home. They played 42 games.

PERFECT RECORDS FALL
Landy's victory over Western Kentucky knocked the Hilltoppers out of the unbeaten. Syracuse's triumph over Penn

1965 A Banner Year For Farmers; Great For City Folks Too!

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's agriculture advanced on many fronts during 1965, producing a record volume of crops and the highest average income per farm in history.

Other developments included a cut in government-held surpluses of some commodities, an increase in exports, an expansion in the quantity of food made available for the needy at home and abroad, and a further reduction in the cost of food in relation to consumer incomes.

The year found technology assuming a larger role in agricultural output. Thus fewer workers were needed to help farmers.

Congress enacted new farm legislation affecting cotton, wheat, feed grains, rice, dairy products and surplus cropland. This legislation moved toward the long controversial Brannan production philosophy.

Under the new law, growers of cotton, feed grains and wheat will get a larger portion of their crop returns from payments made by the government and less from the market place. The idea of making broad use of such a payment device was first advanced by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture under President Harry S. Truman in 1949. The proposal didn't get anywhere at the time.

Much Opposition
 This legislation encountered sharp opposition from some farm groups, but was passed in Congress with strong bipartisan support.

Nevertheless, the legislation still left agriculture sorely split over the role government should play in regulating farm production and markets.

Output of food and fiber crops during the year was an estimated 7 per cent larger than in 1964 and 4.5 per cent above the previous high in 1963. This big jump came without any increase in acreage — an accomplishment attributed mainly to further technological advances.

Less Red Meat
 Production of meat animals declined slightly. A slump in cattle and hog prices in 1964 had discouraged producers. A small gain in cattle and hogs is expected in 1966.

The Agriculture Department reported that net farm income totaled $14 billion in 1965. This was the highest since 1952. It compared with $12.9 billion in 1964.

Largely because the number of farms continued to decline, the average net income per farm climbed to a record high of $4,150 in 1965. This was about 11 per cent higher than the 1964 average of $3,727 and nearly 40 per cent higher than the 1960 average of $2,958.

Differing Views
 This increase in incomes of farms was not as bright as it appeared on paper, claim critics of government farm-aid programs. They said that much of the increase came from the federal Treasury in the form of production and non-production payments — outlays which, they argued added to the national debt.

A major critic of these programs continued to be the American Farm Bureau Federation, the largest of the national farm organizations. It long has advocated a gradual withdrawal of government production, price and market controls, with producers relying more heavily on markets.

With farmers using more machinery, more and better fertilizers, and improved crop varieties, the demand for labor declined an estimated 9 per cent during the year. A further reduction is expected in 1966. Farm employment for the year was said to have averaged 5,564,000 compared with 10,070,000 in 1940, for example.

The government said a significant factor in the 1965 decline in use of workers was its action in greatly limiting the importation of foreign workers, particu-asset values. Collection of farm-mortgage loans was reported to have continued excellent in 1965. Delinquencies and foreclosures were few.

The costs of farming, as measured by farm production expenses, continued their long-term upward trend during 1965. A further increase in 1966 has been predicted.

Forecast For 1966
 The new year is expected to bring prolonged discussion — and possibly legislation — on the matter of enlarging this country's programs for feeding the needy abroad. Much debate may develop on the advisability of continuing restrictions on production of some crops. However, government farm officials see no need in the near future for lifting controls.

Other issues likely to draw attention of farmers may include legislative proposals to extend federal minimum wage standards to farm workers.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

SOME FEAR INFLATION; OTHERS WELCOME IT

In a previous report we noted that there has been increasing talk and concern about inflation. We pointed out that:

(1) Inflation, in the economic sense, is an excessive increase in the supply of money.

(2) The resulting excess of demand over supply causes prices of goods and services to rise.

(3) The supply of money, especially checking account balances, is increased whenever banks make loans (extend credit) to individuals, businesses, or the government.

(4) Federal government borrowing from banks is much more inflationary than private borrowing because banks making loans to Uncle Sam receive government bonds, and our laws permit banks to extend several dollars of private loans for each dollar of government securities on hand.

In his report we try to see why some people fear inflation while others welcome it.

Some Fear Inflation. Almost every family in the United States now has substantial savings of one kind or another. We have life insurance, social security accounts, civil service credits, private pension claims, savings accounts, municipal bonds, government bonds, etc. Inflation cuts the real value, the purchasing power, of all such savings. For example, the life insurance policy that I bought in 1933 has already lost 60 percent of its value because of inflation. The loss may be near 75 percent when payment is received.

Older Folks Hurt Most. Our older people suffer most from inflation. They have little or no earning power. They must live mostly upon savings. In many cases inflation has robbed these older people in our community of half or more of their savings. Many live in poverty, on charity, or both.

Many younger people suffer very little from inflation. In fact, they often gain at the expense of the older generation. But the young will grow old — if they live long enough. Then it will be their turn to feel the pinch of rising prices with no corresponding increase in income.

Debtors Gain. People with large long-time debts gain most from inflation. A man can buy a farm, a business, or corporation stocks with a little downpayment and a long time in which to pay the principal. Inflation will make it much easier for him to meet the payments when they come due.

Uncle Sam is the nation's biggest debtor by far. He owes about $320 billion. He is not expected to pay off this debt, but inflation makes it a lot easier to pay the interest each year.

Everything in this picture needs proper humidity

Try a humidifier Free

The more your furnace works during the wintertime, the drier the air in your home becomes. That's bad for furniture, musical instruments, rugs, drapes, house plants, books—and especially bad for people.

Every member of the family feels it... in dry, itchy nasal membranes, dry, lifeless hair and dry complexion.

Most folks have lived with dry wintertime air so long, it's hard for them to realize what a difference a humidifier makes in living comfort. You can find out without charge or obligation, by trying a brand name humidifier in your home for five days free. Call or come in to Illinois Power for all the details.

HONG KONG KIDS GET GIFTS FROM U.S. SAILORS

HONG KONG (AP) — It came two days late but it was the best Christmas party in Hong Kong.

U.S. sailors and American medical missionaries today handed out 2,000 20-inch dolls, 2,000 other toys, slabs of chocolate and hunks of cake to some 4,000 children of poor Chinese families.

The party was held on the floating clinic boats of Project Concern, a private American medical agency that treats hundreds of patients daily in Hong Kong's refugee-packed boat shelters.

The party carried a huge waterway traffic jam. Scores of larger junks and hundreds of small sampans brought the children to the clinic boats.

JAZZ MUSICIAN DUKE ELLINGTON IN SACRED CONCERT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS NEW YORK (AP) — Jazz musician Duke Ellington brought his orchestra to New York's Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church Sunday night for a concert of sacred music.

The concert, which drew loud applause from 2,000 persons jammed into the pews of the stately old church, was sponsored by the Protestant Council of the City of New York.

Singer Lena Horne joined Ellington for the concert, which included "In the Beginning God," a work for his full orchestra first performed in a similar concert last September at Grace Episcopal Cathedral, San Francisco.

Three Accidents Cause Property Damage Sunday

Three collisions were investigated by city police Sunday involving property damage to the vehicles. No one was injured.

Three cars were damaged in a chain reaction collision at South Main and Franklin at 10:45 a.m. City police said a car driven by James H. Stark, 1012 West College, southbound on Main street, stopped in the line of traffic. Another car, driven by Thomas O. Bauser, Route 5, stopped behind him.

A third auto, driven by Donald Fiedler, 1727 Mound, struck the rear of the Bauser car, knocking it into the Stark auto. All vehicles left under their own power.

There was a two-car collision at West State and Park streets about 2:30 p.m. City police said Gerald R. Stewart, 872 North Prairie, driving a pickup truck, was attempting a left turn onto Park street. His truck struck a westbound car driven by Edward Freitag, 209 East Court, which was attempting to pass.

The Freitag car had to be towed to a local garage. The pickup truck left under its own power.

There was a two-car accident about 3:30 p.m. at the intersection of South Main and Vandalia. State police who investigated said there were no injuries and damage was relatively minor.

Drivers of the cars were identified as Carl Farmer, 1 Southvale and Hazel Horney of White Hall.

The fourth mishap occurred about 4 p.m. at the intersection of South Clay and East Superior. Ronald A. Drake, Route 2, Winchester, was going west on East Superior and collided with a southbound car on South Clay, driven by Roger Patterson, 214 East Greenwood. The Drake auto was towed to a Winchester garage and Drake was cited by city police for failure to yield the right of way.

There were at least a dozen other traffic mishaps over the holiday weekend in the Jacksonville area but no serious injuries reported.

FORMER RESIDENT INJURED SUNDAY

A former Jacksonville young man was injured in a one-car accident on Route 36-54, a quarter of a mile east of Curran at 7:45 Sunday morning.

Twenty-four year old Richard E. Walker, formerly of Jacksonville but now residing in Springfield, was taken to St. John's hospital in Springfield for treatment of minor injuries. He was released later this morning.

Investigating state police said Walker was the driver and lone occupant of an auto headed east when it ran off the highway for an unknown reason. The 1965 model car, which is owned by a Chicago man, was badly damaged and had to be towed to a Springfield garage.

Walker was ticketed for driving with an expired driver's license.

WATCH FOR QUAKES VOLCANO ERUPTION

HILLO, Hawaii (AP) — Scientists are keeping a 24-hour watch for earthquakes and another possible eruption of the Alohi crater of Kilauea volcano.

The crater erupted unexpectedly Christmas Eve, but the bright orange and red lava fountains died down six hours later. There had been some minor earthquakes before the eruption but scientists said they had noticed none of the underground vibrations which usually precede volcanic activity.

The crater is on Hawaii Island, in an unpopulated area about 99 miles southeast of Honolulu.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wiseheart, 339 North Sappington Road, Glendale, Maryland, became parents of twins on Dec. 13th, Stuart and Kristin. The couple has another son, Kurt, age 2½ years. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Propst of Kirkwood, Mo. and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wiseheart of Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weger, Jacksonville route one, became the parents of a daughter born at 1:10 a.m. Sunday at Passavant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Wilson, Jacksonville route two, became the parents of a son born at 4:36 a.m. Sunday at Passavant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. McCurley, Concord, became the parents of a daughter born at 6 a.m. Sunday at Passavant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Meland Summers, 718 South Diamond street, became the parents of a son born at 8:30 a.m. Sunday at Passavant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, Chandler route two, became the parents of a daughter born at 9:23 p.m. Sunday at Passavant Hospital.

Favorites Win At Waverly

WAVERLY — Top-rated Lincolnwood and 5th-seeded Northwestern breezed to easy victories in the morning session of the 15th annual Waverly Tournament, here Monday.

Lincolnwood broke their game open in the first quarter enroute to a 78-52 count over the host Waverly club. The Lancers led 13-1 after eight minutes, as Waverly missed all 16 shots from the field in the opening period.

Lincolnwood led 38-18, as the fast-breaking Lancers continued to pull away from the Scotties. For the game Waverly committed 16 turnovers and shot only 25%.

Lincolnwood hit 38% from the field. Lynn Johnson hit 20 and Bill Arter 12 to pace the winners, while Roland Gunn and Steve Timmons led the losers with ten each.

Northwestern jumped to a big lead in this opening quarter and romped in with an 82-47 margin over Mt. Olive, as Ron Paluska threw in 32 points.

The Wildcats led 23-11 after the opening quarter, mostly off an effective full-court press. By halftime the difference had reached 43-18 and the winners were never threatened.

The winners hit a hot 49% for the game, to only 27% by the losers.

Two games in the afternoon and two more in the evening will close out the first day at Waverly.

TWO VEHICLES DAMAGED SUNDAY

Two cars were damaged in an accident near the corner of South Main and Kentucky streets, shortly after 1:15 a.m. Sunday.

Investigating city police reported a car driven by Donna K. Farrell, 721 West College, was southbound on Main when it struck a properly parked car, owned by Henry T. Strange of rural route, Clinton. The Strange car was parked on South Main, near the corner of Kentucky.

Mrs. Farrell said she did not see the parked car until it was too late.

There were no injuries and both autos were able to be driven from the scene.

FIRE KILLS BOY ST. LOUIS (AP) — A fire caused by an overheated oil burner killed Jimmy Lee Martin, 8 in his St. Louis home Saturday.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin, were unsuccessful in their attempt to rescue him. The father suffered second degree burns of the wrist.

Roodhouse Club Visits Nursing Homes In Area

ROODHOUSE — Following the weekly dinner meeting of the local Rotary Club, the usual group of men left for carol singing at nursing and rest homes where gifts from the club were distributed.

Miss Bernadine Lewis and sister-in-law, Mrs. Lee Lewis, spent the weekend in the home of the latter's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lewis, Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Earl Moore and daughter Chris of Granite City and Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Harriett Teeple, Godfrey, spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hensley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coates drove to Carrollton Christmas day to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Becker, and family.

Jon Charles Barlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Barlow of Rural Roodhouse, is among the 596 persons who have completed requirements for degrees from the University of Kansas since the June, 1965, commencement exercises.

The University of Kansas holds commencement but once a year and the names of these persons will be included in the 1966 program. However, they now have their diplomas and many already have participated in the commencement exercises. Barlow is among 48 persons who have earned the doctor of philosophy degree.

ASHLAND WSCS HAS HOLIDAY PROGRAM

ASHLAND — The Ruth Circle of the Methodist WSCS met in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Goodell Tuesday afternoon. Fourteen members and a former member, Mrs. Ross Anderson of Emden, were present.

After a short business meeting, a Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Goodell, with illustrated pictures and group singing of carols.

A gift exchange was held followed by a social hour.

Miss Mae Johnson was taken in the Gainer ambulance to the Holy Cross hospital in Jacksonville, Wednesday afternoon, for observation.

Mrs. Reuben Isenhower, who suffered an injured back caused by a fall in her home three weeks ago, remains a patient in memorial hospital, Springfield.

Jesse Boner and James Heather of Great Lakes Naval Training station arrived Tuesday evening for a 2-week furlough with the former's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Farmer and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Heather and family.

The Loyal Berean class of the Church of Christ met in the church basement on Thursday night for their annual potluck dinner.

The afternoon's program was directed by Rev. James Cook, who had charge of the devotion. Christmas poems were read by Daisy Lewis. A talk was given by Mr. Small, who is overseer of the new building that is being added to the Church of Christ now.

A gift exchange was enjoyed by the thirteen members present.

BURGULARY ALARM SOUNDS SUNDAY

City, county and state police converged on the First National Bank shortly before noon Sunday when the automatic burglar alarm sounded. There were no burglars in evidence. Later, police found that a short in the wiring caused the alarm to sound at headquarters.

Officials Say Bomb Incident Believed Prank

A small bomb which exploded in a colored neighborhood in Jacksonville Saturday night is believed to have been the work of pranksters, Police Chief Charles Runkel said Monday.

Runkel said that investigation indicated that the incident did not have any racial implications.

The bomb was thrown from a small foreign car in which three white youths were riding about 8:45 Saturday night in the 400 block of Marion Street. It exploded between the homes occupied by Mrs. Alice Jordan, 402 Marion and Mrs. Avery Williams, Jr., 408 Marion. No one was injured, but several windows were broken in both houses.

Fragments of the bomb have been sent to the FBI in Washington for analysis. Officers said that it appeared to be a small Army type explosive of the type used for training purposes.

Several leads have been followed up by officers who were called to duty when the bomb scare was reported. Chief Runkel said that the investigation would be continued.
